

"Renaissance"
The Center for Spiritual development

THE SECOND
COMING OF CHRIST
THE BEGINNING

*Series of Father-Absolute and Mother of the Universe messages
channeled by Marta
from September 27 till November 9, 2017*

THE SECOND COMING OF CHRIST

(The beginning)

Series of Father-Absolute and Mother of the Universe messages
channeled by Marta
from September 27 till November 9, 2017

Оглавление

The beginning.....	5
About the origin of man	7
The Exile from paradise	8
The Cunning Snake	11
The First Coming	13
The Essenes	15
First steps.....	17
The Primer of Life.....	19
Mary Magdalene	21
The new horizons	23
Acquaintance with India.....	25
The Trip to Tibet	26
Mount Kailash	28
Agartha.....	30
The Path of the Soul	32
Training in Agartha	33
Farewell to Agartha.....	35
The First Miracle.....	37
The Return.....	39
The New Reality.....	41
The Precious Experience.....	43
The First Students.....	45
On the Road Again.....	47
The Long-Awaited Meeting.....	49
Conversation with God.....	50
The Future Life's Scenario	53

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The Separation..... 55
The Crucial Meeting..... 57
The Baptism 59
The First Sermon 61
Winds of Wandering 63
Pontius Pilate..... 65
Confrontation of the Two Worlds 66
Resolution..... 68
Judas 70
The Arrest..... 73
The Night before the Execution 75
Judgment of the Crowd 77
Crucifixion..... 79
Resurrection..... 81
Ascension 83
Yeshua's Legacy..... 85

The beginning

Greetings, our dear beloved children!

Today we begin a series of our joint channelings. They carry a balanced energy of the male and female principles, which you now need very much.

Let's call this series of our conversations "The Second Coming of Christ."

Dear ones, you live in a unique time, when a whole epoch of your planet's life - historic, geographic and energetic, is coming to an end.

First, we will discuss the historical part.

As you already know, life on earth arose several billions years ago, and it was conceived in such a way that all the creatures living on it, could live in joy, Love and harmony.

And so it was for quite a long time until this blessed land attracted attention of some alien civilizations, who decided to make it their own "testing ground" where they could acquire a unique experience incomparable to anything else, and in turn bring their own experience and knowledge to this beautiful planet.

5

Their intentions were very peaceful and loving, and because of that they managed to preserve the original harmony.

Their experiments consisted of the following: they implanted their genes into the bodies of people living on Earth, changing their DNA's and thereby enriching their genes and bringing genetic material of other Galactic beings into them.

As a result, the Earth acquired a unique gene pool that incorporated the diversity and richness of different extraterrestrial civilizations.

It is similar to your modern mixed marriages between different races that became so common now.

Such genetic interference had both positive and negative sides.

On the positive side, there was the "new blood" that really enriched humans and launched in them the mechanism of processing a lot of information of all kinds: mental, emotional, physical and energetic.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It can be compared to how, as you move from class to class in school, the curriculum becomes more and more complicated.

But in this case, such an advanced program started from the very beginning, taking man to a new level of development from birth.

Such an interference into the human gene pool really gave a new impetus to its development and brought new bright colours into the life on Earth.

In what way was it expressed?

People began to have pronounced abilities in different areas, depending from which civilization their prevailing genes were from.

People started to have technical or creative mindsets, artistic abilities, musical talents, practical personalities or on the contrary freedom-loving and unpredictable, or temperamental and cold personalities.

All of this has been preserved in you to this day, our dear ones. That is exactly why you are all so different. The legacy of your extraterrestrial ancestors has been trailing behind you for thousands of years.

Very soon your scientists will learn to determine which alien civilization you belong to by calculating and analyzing peculiarities of your genes.

It will bring positive results because it will become scientifically proven that all of you are one Galactic family, which will be reunited in the very near future.

We will stop here today.

About the origin of man

Today we will continue our story about the history of humanity that we began in the previous channeling.

What else was positive about the fact that human DNA absorbed the genetic material of various alien civilizations?

Mainly the fact that as a result the human race became a unifying element in a large Galactic family.

You are still unable to understand and realize this fully but it is precisely your “blood relations” that attract such strong attention from representatives of other planets; and not just attention, but also Love and warmth, because you are their particles.

The great experiment is coming to an end. They reap the fruits of their work.

After they gained the experience for which all of this was done, they are now trying to rescue the best representatives of mankind from the danger zone - those great souls who voluntarily descended to Earth at this crucial time, when the planet is transiting to a new stage of development.

And now let's talk about the negative side of the alien interference in your life.

In order to explain that, we need to go back to the very beginning and tell you how life was originated on Earth and how the first people appeared on Earth.

What happened could be compared to the Divine Sowing, and it consisted in the fact that particles of living organisms of very different qualities were brought to Earth from space.

Your plant and animal kingdoms - all the great variety of your natural world- originated from such living particles. It flourished more and more because of the mild climate and the abundance of rivers, lakes and seas, and eventually your planet was transformed into a blooming paradise.

And this creation was so divinely beautiful that we decided to bring to this blessed Earth the particles of ourselves - our male and female hypostases, the fusion of which marked the beginning of the human race, that became the crown of our creation – the race of Gods living on Earth.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The legend of Adam and Eve is based on real events, our dear ones, and that's why it lives from birth in the soul of each of you. Your genetic memory contains the knowledge of your Divine origin.

For a long time people lived in this earthly paradise, enjoying the gifts of nature, in Love and harmony with Earth and with each other.

And even the alien interference did not disturb this idyllic state, because the vibrations of both humans and aliens were at the fifth-dimensional level or higher.

But still there was a minus side to this genetic mixing of different civilizations.

It consisted in the fact that the purity of our experiment was violated and the history of mankind took a different path.

You may ask, how did we allow that?

It happened because of the free will of man, their curiosity, and their desire to learn new things. And we could not forbid them to take a new path of evolution – the one they chose themselves.

But we continued to oversee our particles - their development, maturing, changes in their consciousness; especially as aliens are also our children, our particles, and you are all loved equally.

We will stop here today.

The Exile from paradise

Let's continue our story about the history of mankind.

As you already know from the previous channeling, it did not go exactly the way we planned and as a result of this the rules of the game for people became completely different.

These rules were no better and no worse – they were the rules chosen by man himself, or rather by their Soul, for which life became increasingly interesting, because of vast spaces and unlimited possibilities opening up before it.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It turned out that man expanded their horizons by coming into contact with representatives of other civilizations and absorbing their experiences and their distinctness.

But, unfortunately, your beautiful planet attracted attention not only of friendly and kindred civilizations, but also of those who chose a different path of development, turning from Light to Darkness that also had the right to exist in your Galaxy.

You will ask why?

In order for the Soul to develop, it needs impulses of different vibrations, which mutually enrich each other through interaction, and by doing so exchange their experiences and knowledge.

In other words, the diversity of the Universe is the key to its development, evolution, transformation and flowing from one state to another.

Nothing can stay unchanged, including the consciousness of man.

And each of you is given different options of development of events, and a right to freedom of choice.

This also applies to collective consciousness. How does this happen?

For example, similar wishes, emotions and thoughts of a large number of people, under the law of attraction can attract and create relevant experiences and events.

This is exactly what happened when the race of Darconians appeared on Earth and, unlike their predecessors who had descended to Earth with positive intentions, had completely different interests.

They decided to put people at their service. They began their work in a very subtle and deceptive way like real “snake tempters.” And the meaning of the “snake-tempter” became embedded in your genetic memory.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

What they did first seemed innocent at first glance. They taught people how to flatter each other, how to say compliments and praise each other.

This flattery started to generate vanity, self-admiration, and separation of oneself from everyone else. That was uncharacteristic of mankind, who had been previously living in Love and Unity.

That is how the duality appeared on Earth, and then unnoticeably spread everywhere, creating greed, love for power, hypocrisy and self-interest.

Gradually, the vibrations of people started to fall lower and lower, until they reached the level of third dimension.

The Draconians, just like other alien races, brought changes into the genetic code of human beings, but unlike other aliens they could not assimilate with people completely.

The reason for that lay in the fact that the Draconian race did not carry a divine particle, despite the fact that they were also created by us.

10

Their origination can be compared to an artificially created intelligence. It was also an experiment, the task of which was to observe the development of beings that did not have a divine origin.

And now this experiment was entering a new stage – the beginning of their interaction with human beings.

That stage dragged on for many millenniums...

We will continue to talk about it in our next channeling.

The Cunning Snake

Last time we stopped when we were telling you that the alien energy of separation invaded your peaceful and happy lives, disturbed your harmony and peace, changed your consciousness, and a new stage in the history of humankind began - the life of duality.

In order to consolidate their positions and to completely take hold of human minds, the Draconians conducted a unique operation, creating human like creatures - reptiloids. Before that they had been carrying out their plans by influencing people telepathically and implanting programs of separation into their minds, but now they had the opportunity to assimilate with people and to even have common offspring.

It was happening very gradually, because people sensed intuitively that these beings did not have souls and therefore avoided them. But by using all kinds of tricks and sophisticated cunning, the Draconians managed to enter into marital relations with people and started to have children.

Why were they so determined to have children with human beings and not with other reptiloids like themselves?

It was very important for them that more and more similar to them creatures would appear on Earth, who would then gradually get hold of all Earth's riches and that in turn would give them money and power.

They understood perfectly well that they were different from an average man, and they needed a disguise.

They knew that reptiloids born from mixed marriages would be almost indistinguishable from humans, and that would allow them to successfully carry out their plans.

However, not all children born from mixed marriages were reptiloids. If the mother or father were highly spiritual people, the sparkle of God within them always won, and as a result a human being was born.

If they were materialistic people, whose interests were limited to the three dimensional world, the seed of the reptiloids was stronger.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Often, both humans and reptiloids were born in the same mixed family, if the spiritual state of the parents was changing due to the changing conditions of life.

So how did the Draconians' program of enslavement people through their “henchmen” (reptiloids) on Earth work?

This civilization settled in an astral plane very close to the planet Earth. In your language you would call their civilization technocratic.

Like a huge computer, it stored a database of all their representatives on Earth, expertly guiding their consciousnesses by sending energy impulses with certain tasks.

All these tasks were of practical nature, aimed at seizing the world's finances and power.

Their conspiracy of silence and clannishness became their “business card” on Earth.

They clearly divided everyone into “yours” and “ours,” and people responded to them in the same way, intuitively rejecting these greedy, practical and materialistic “people.”

People sensed their spiritual emptiness, the absence of God's spark within them, even though sometimes they could not understand why they felt that way.

During many centuries of living together, there appeared a small layer of reptiloids who wanted to become more like people, and tried their best to break free from the Draconian program imposed on them and find spirituality.

These reptiloids sensed the beauty and strength of the Soul that is a part of God, and they wanted to become such Gods too.

And if this desire was sincere and was coming from the heart, a Soul was granted to them and they turned into a real human being.

However, such cases were rare exceptions to the rule.

We will stop here today, our dear ones.

The First Coming

Today we will continue our story about the history of humanity and will talk about how and why the technogenic civilization of Draconians, that doesn't have a divine origin, was able to subjugate the God-Men living on Earth and make them live by their rules and laws.

In order for you to understand better how their mechanism of enslaving people, launched by them, worked, imagine the Soul of man as a bird and the reptiloids as bird catchers.

They knew there were many kinds of “birds,” with their own unique tastes, habits, and traits. And they had special approach to each kind, having developed an accurate scheme of enslavement that included all kinds of bribery, flattery, blackmail and intimidation...

But their most important and loved weapon was their program of “depersonalizing people.” They dreamed of creating beings like themselves - obedient and soulless slaves, who would carry out their orders in complete obedience.

And they ALMOST succeeded, by planting stereotypes of thinking and behavior artificially created by them in human society, by creating laws that would hold people in fear and obedience, by imposing a false system of values upon people, by diverting them from their spiritual paths, making them worship money and power.

But in spite of all their efforts and systematic work, they COULD NOT SUCCEED in killing the Divine spark in the Soul of man; and it infuriated them.

That was the reason, dear ones, for persecution, torture, and torment of all Great Souls, who were trying to break free from cages and snares put by the reptiloids, and who tried to lead others and help them remember their Divine origin and feel their own greatness and power.

These people performed miracles by the power of their Spirit, and the memory of them lived and still lives in people throughout the history of mankind.

And, of course, the deepest mark in your history was left by our beloved Yeshua, who is better known to you under the name of Jesus Christ.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

So who was he really? Why did his name become so dear for many of you? Why do you associate him with God?

And today we want to begin a story about him and his life without any distortions and lies, which grew around his name over the past millennia.

We want you to, at last, learn the truth, which will not only not minimize his achievements, but on the contrary will raise him to an even greater height; and at the same time will not put him on a pedestal but bring him closer to you.

You will understand that he was one of you - a man who incarnated on Earth at a difficult time with a unique mission of Serving people, that he fulfilled with great honor.

From the very beginning, he was put in difficult circumstances, since he was born into a very poor family.

His parents, Maria and Joseph, came from far away to the land of Judaea and were strangers there.

Assyrians by birth, they were discriminated by the Jews and could not even get married legally, because of their different faith.

Yeshua, their only son, who was loved dearly, was born out of wedlock which was a great shame at the time.

Because of that, Marie and Joseph had to lead a nomadic life, hiding under different names and earning a living by heavy physical work. Joseph worked as a shoemaker and Maria was a laundress.

But despite the hardships of life, love and harmony reigned in their family, and their son was growing up as a handsome, kind, intelligent and curious boy, which made them happy.

When Yeshua was fourteen years old, his parents sent him to the Essenes sect for mentoring. By that time, Maria and Joseph had become very close to the Essenes and trusted them with their beloved son.

It was there, on the shores of the Dead Sea, that Yeshua received his first spiritual knowledge that helped him later fulfill his mission for which he came to Earth for.

We will continue this story in our next channeling.

The Essenes

Today we will tell you about the years of Yeshua's youth, which laid the foundation for his further spiritual growth.

But first we have to explain who the Essenes were.

At that time they were called cult members, hermits, dissidents, fanatics and so on.

And in reality, they were the Great Initiates, who came to Earth with a mission to bring people the Divine Knowledge, to teach them how to live according to the Universal laws, not the laws imposed on humans by the reptiloids.

And, of course, they did not choose the land of Judea by chance. It was the land where everyone was worshipping a golden calf (money as an object of worship); where the reptiloids felt they were the rulers of life.

Their strengths were not equal, and people were not able to understand their message, because their consciousness was intoxicated by the new "values," imposed by the Reptiloids.

15

At this time, the Reptiloids succeeded in placing their own "people" in all branches of power, and felt that they were in charge of the land of Judea.

Therefore, all the Essenes could do was to win for themselves a piece of land – the rockiest, arid, and difficult for farming – the land no one else wanted; and start to live as a commune, isolated from the rest of the world.

Luckily for the Essenes, the Reptiloids did not feel any danger to themselves from these strange otherworldly people and didn't take them seriously.

That is why, they did not destroy them physically, and the Essenes were able to convey to people the Divine Knowledge they possessed.

They wrote what they knew on pieces of papyrus, which they carefully hid in their caves on the shores of the Dead Sea.

Despite the hardest life conditions, the Commune of the Essenes was the prototype of the Cities of Light, because Love and Unity reigned in it. Every person was doing their favorite work. People thought first of all not about themselves but about others and humanity as a whole: how to convey the Eternal knowledge to people, how to help them find harmony, and how to teach them how to live according to the Universal laws.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Because they could not preach their teaching openly, the Essenes prayed and meditated a lot, sending the most powerful energies of Light and Love into the world.

For the sake of their Faith and Service, they renounced many things. They did not allow themselves to have a family and children, they were vegetarians and rejected many other earthly pleasures.

They were content with very little, but they knew it was the choice of their Souls, and in that was their selfless devotion and service.

They accepted Yeshua as their own, immediately sensing a huge spiritual potential in this young man.

It seemed to them that he already possessed all the knowledge, that they were conveying to him, from birth, as he learnt everything so easily, fast and naturally, accepting it with all his heart.

And soon they discovered who in fact this extraordinary young man whom fate had brought to them was.

During one of the meditation, one of the elders of the commune received information from the Higher Powers that Yeshua was meant to play the main role in awakening the Divine consciousness of people. And in order for that to happen he was destined to sacrifice his life for this.

The Higher Powers asked the Essenes to take care of Yeshua and to give him shelter every time he needed it.

And they fulfilled this request of the Higher Forces throughout Yeshua's whole life.

We will stop here today.

First steps

Ler's continue our story about Yeshua's youth.

He stayed in the commune of the Essenes long enough, until he was eighteen years old.

During the four years of his stay, he gained not only a lot of spiritual knowledge, but also mastered several professions, which helped him make a living later in life.

He learned carpenter's skills, how to fire clay and make beautifully shaped jars.

He also became a great gardener, and was able to create wonders even on the dry and stony land, because everything he touched, yielded great fruits.

He mastered a gift of public speaking, which helped him express his thoughts clearly, logically, and to the point in such a great way that they touched people's souls and stayed in their memory for a long time.

But the most important gain from these four years with the Essenes, was the UNCONDITIONAL LOVE that they generously shared with the world and humanity.

Yeshua always participated in group meditations with the Essenes, and he increasingly realized what a great strength and power could one achieve by coming in contact with the Divine energy of Light and Love.

He learned how to create a state of wellbeing within himself and how to remain filled with Love every time he felt sad or was overwhelmed with fatigue and discontent.

He started to feel the energies of different vibrations as if they were alive, and as if juggling them around, learned to transform low vibration energies into high vibration energies.

It helped him very much in his later life, which would not be easy. Possessing such a skill, allowed him to stay undisturbed, loving and compassionate in any circumstances, even most tragic.

It was not easy for Yeshua to leave the Essenes commune, which became a real family for him. He grew attached to them with all his heart and felt completely safe there.

But he understood that it was time to start his independent life; that his mission, unlike the mission of his teachers, was different. He had to carry the knowledge, received from the Essenes, to the masses; he had to reveal the Divine Laws. He had to explain to them how a life lived in accordance with the laws of duality can lead to a great spiritual fall.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He had to bring Light and Love to all people. The Light and Love which were so generously given to him by the Essenes and by the Higher Forces, whose presence he always felt.

After receiving the blessing of his parents and teachers, he embarked upon his independent path, armed with the belief that all the Forces of Light will always help him in difficult times.

But after immersing into the whirlpool of city life and interacting with its inhabitants, he realized what a great abyss there was between the spiritual purity that he got accustomed to whilst living with the Essenes, and the way of life of the majority of people whom he was destined to meet.

His attempts to talk to them about non material subjects were met with misunderstanding, distrust and mockery.

This young man seemed to them strange and odd, alien and mysterious.

The fact that he was too young was also a factor, because in those distant times admiration for old people was considered to be one of the greatest virtues.

Thus, Yeshua's first attempts to bring his spiritual knowledge to people were not successful. He had nothing left to do, but to start living in this society, trying to understand people's psychology, their needs and demands.

In other words, he had to learn how to approach people, how to speak their language, operating with concepts familiar to them. He had to become one of them without losing his purity and spiritual potential, which he already had when he came to Earth and which were strengthened by the Essenes, his dear teachers.

A new page of his life began – his coming to the masses of people.

The Primer of Life

Today we will begin to tell you how Yeshua was growing to maturity, as a person who came to Earth to experience life in the three dimensional world.

This period of his life lasted for fifteen years and was very diverse.

He was given an opportunity to perceive life in all its various aspects. Because he was meant to live on Earth for only thirty three years, it seemed that every experience was given to him in a very compressed way. So rapidly the events in his life unfolded and so many tests were sent to him.

It seemed that every day, every hour, his strength and resilience were tested for so many temptations he faced on his path.

Owing to his beauty, intellect, charm and unfailing benevolence, he learned fast how to find a common language with very different people.

Like his parents, he preferred to lead a nomadic lifestyle in order to get to know the world in all its complexity.

For a little more than two years, he walked all over Judaea, doing occasional jobs here and there, using the skills he learned in the Essenes commune.

More than anything else, he loved to work as a gardener.

He saw every plant and every flower as a Divine creature and gave them all the love he had. They responded to him in the same way, and such mutual love created astonishing results.

Yeshua was gladly invited into the houses of rich people, where he created real gardens of paradise.

He was able to save some money and could now afford some small “pleasures of life.”

Thus, he got very attracted to the theater, which was very popular at that time. The performances were held right on the streets during big festivals or on market days.

Most often, it was a grotesque portrayal of life, where all human passions were displayed in eye catching, juicy and expressive ways.

In the theatre, Yeshua loved to observe all human emotions, all the hidden motives of behavior, which one usually hides from others, being spilled out, completely exposing all human weaknesses and vices, or on the contrary, their benevolence and virtue.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It was the primer of life in its pure form, without any embellishments and hypocrisy ...

His interest in theatre was not something accidental. By virtue of it, he met his other half, experienced true love and the joy of fatherhood.

During one of the performances, he noticed an actress, the girl of charming and gentle beauty. At the same time, he could feel that she possessed inner power and courage.

Her ironic lively eyes radiated a mysterious light. It was as if they were saying, "I am not like everyone else, and I don't want to be like you."

He could not take his eyes off her. And he suddenly recognized a kindred soul in her, realizing that her inner state was very similar to his - that she was feeling exactly what he usually felt whilst being amongst people.

It was joy and pain, love and compassion, fun and sadness at the same time. The whole mixture of contradictory feelings that people evoked in him with all their virtues and shortcomings, weaknesses and vices, but sometimes with their noble aspirations and sincere generosity.

That feeling was so unusual and so exciting for him. He could not take his eyes off this astonishing girl, but could not find enough courage to approach her after the performance.

He had to handle his emotions first. But he already knew, he felt with all his heart, that their next meeting is unavoidable.

The girl's name was Maria like his dear mother's name.

We will stop here today.

Mary Magdalene

Let's continue with our story about the predestined meeting of Yeshua and his other half.

Who was Mary Magdalene? And why did she, just as Yeshua, left such a deep mark on the history of mankind?

Why do people worship her as a Saint?

She was a great Soul, as well as Yeshua, who came to Earth with a mission to awaken the humanity and bring the Divine knowledge back to them.

She was born in a family of a fish merchant. Her family came to Jerusalem from the Mediterranean region. Mary's father died when she was very young, and her mother had to support her and her younger sister. The family was very poor, and Mary had to work from a very young age.

Her artistic talents became apparent early in life. Mary was a good singer and dancer. Thanks to her good looks, exceptional femininity and great charm, she always attracted attention of men.

Being smart and perceptive, she often used that to her advantage.

But she always did that in a fun a playful way, never causing any harm to her admirers or any other people.

Mary had a kind and compassionate heart and did not know what jealousy or hypocrisy were.

She had a remarkable personality combining everyday practicality and purity of a child, flirtatiousness and spontaneity, joy and sadness, insightfulness and credulity.

And because of such a multicoloured palette of feelings and emotions, combined with a sense of humor and rare charm, she was the embodiment of a true woman.

No one could resist her, and she, in turn, fell in love often.

Because of her ardent temperament she did not stay alone for long.

In her heart, Mary was an actress and, whenever there was an opportunity, she took part in the plays she liked.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Yeshua saw her performing in one of such plays. But unlike others, who only saw her external beauty, he saw her inner beauty. He didn't see just a light-minded actress, but a woman with a rich inner world who was different from all the other girls he had met before.

He came to see the same performance for the second time, and then the third. And only then he finally decided to meet her.

It happened quite unexpectedly. It seemed that destiny itself helped them and made this meeting beautiful and memorable.

After the performance, one drunk admirer decided “to buy” the actress he liked. Yeshua, who noticed Mary’s frightened and bewildered face, took her hand, saying, “Let’s run,” and led her through the maze of narrow Jerusalem streets.

Once in a safe place, they stopped and at last looked into each other’s eyes...

It was love at first sight. It seemed that their Souls united into one, and without any words, they realized they could never separate again.

Yeshua brought her into his house the same evening. And they started their life together. The life full of travel and adventures. The life that gave them so many happy moments, unforgettable days and nights.

It seemed that they were swimming together in the waves of life, gently and harmoniously, always understanding and supporting each other.

Their relationship was based not only on love, but on great respect for each other; because they both realized or rather sensed, that they were both unusual people and had an unusual life ahead of them.

Mary absorbed all the spiritual knowledge that Yeshua shared with her fast. It seemed to her that what she was learning was not new to her, that she had always known these Universal Laws and how the Universe is designed and that she simply returned Home through the stories of her beloved husband.

Love and spiritual closeness strengthened their union with the Great Divine “Seal,” which was the greatest guarantee for a happy family life.

The new horizons

Last time we spoke to you, we were telling you that Yeshua met his true love, a woman who would be his life companion and loyal wife for the rest of his earthly path.

He introduced Mary to his parents and to his dear teachers, the Essenes.

Both the parents and the Essenes liked her. They felt the purity of her soul and her honesty despite the fact that Mary Magdalene did not exactly fit into the image of “decency” established in society by the Reptiloids at that time.

Even such a sacred concept as family, was transformed into an object of “buying and selling.” Such customs created so much grief and misery, separating those who loved each other and often uniting those who hated each other.

Horrible lawlessness was taking place in the name of law and religion, condemning thousands of people to sad and miserable lives with spouses they did not love.

That is why Yeshua’s parents and wise Essenes were very happy that Yeshua found his true love. They could not stop looking at the beautiful couple, where one complemented another.

Strong and masculine Yeshua seemed like a great support for a petite and delicate Mary Magdalene, who was the embodiment of femininity and love.

It was a great symbol of unity of the male and female principles, such a rare, exceptional case, when the two twin flames met each other on Earth. When the two Divine halves, two kindred souls, united into one in their physical incarnation.

Such happiness was not given to them by chance. It would have been very difficult for Yeshua to fulfill his mission by himself if he did not have this wonderful woman by his side; this Angel, who became his main protection on Earth. For a deep and sincere Love of a Woman is capable of creating wonders and inspires a man to great deeds and heroic acts.

They spent several months with the Essenes, who made an exception for their favorite student and provided a separate cell for him and his wife.

Yeshua really wanted for Mary to submerge into the atmosphere of Love and

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Goodness and to take part in the meditations of the Essenes. He wanted her to feel a part of the Universe, to absorb the energy of Light with which this wonderful place was filled. This place had dry and poor soil, but was filled with the energies of the Creator.

Mary gained a lot during these several months of her stay. She immediately loved the kindred atmosphere of this place, accepted all their teachings with all her heart and inhaled the spiritual knowledge with hunger.

Then, on the advice of the Essenes elders, they decided to undertake a trip to India where they could complete their spiritual training, taking in the ancient knowledge of the East and mastering the secrets of meditation of famous yogis.

It was decided that they would have to join one of the caravans carrying goods to India.

Such a chance soon came and they embarked on a long journey, which took several months.

On the way, Yeshua helped the merchants with their camels, and Mary cooked food for them. By doing that, they were able to save quite a bit of money, which they needed because they did not know what was awaiting them or how long their journey might take.

They were used to trusting the Creator and the higher powers who led them in life and always guided to the right path.

They were young and happy. And they had a new remarkable life ahead of them.

They were both curious and joyfully accepted everything they came across on their way. That is why the journey was not exhausting for them, despite all the difficulties.

We will stop here today.

Acquaintance with India

At last their long journey came to an end - Yeshua and Mary Magdalene arrived to India.

They spend several unforgettable days on the shores of the ocean, enjoying the beauty and peace after the difficult journey.

And then they headed to a special place, where according to the Essenes, the Great Initiates lived – the foot of mount Kailash in Tibet.

A long way across the whole of India was ahead of them; and they decided to do it on foot. They wanted to learn about the ancient Indian culture; to see with their own eyes the great miracles performed by the yogis; to feel the atmosphere of this great country and its special energy.

They only knew what a general goal of their journey was. Regarding everything else they trusted the Creator.

Yeshua and Mary went slowly, stopping at the places they liked, learning the language; because they realized that without the language they wouldn't be able to learn all the Knowledge they needed.

They became filled with the spirit of this colourful and diverse country, which reminded them of a quilt. There was such a mixture of so many cultures, traditions and religions...

But its greatest pride was undoubtedly in the culture of yoga, this ancient teaching, which helped people open their inner capabilities and feel themselves as superhuman, Divine beings.

But the more Yeshua and Mary Magdalene became familiar with this culture, the more they understood what a great abyss there was between the yogis who performed miracles on the streets to entertain the public, and the Great Initiates, for whom Yoga was the key for a deep and multifaceted knowledge about themselves and the world.

They had already met such people. And they never showed off their knowledge or demonstrated their paranormal abilities, which they undoubtedly possessed.

It seemed that they lived in another dimension, in some parallel world with a different time framework and different physical laws.

It appeared that these people could change space around them, widening their energy fields to enormous sizes.

Yeshua recognized the energy of these fields as it was the same energy fields that filled the space in the Essenes community.

Both groups generated the energy of Love. The Essenes created it by meditations, calling their energy from space; and the yogis generated it by their subtle bodies - that's how concentrated with energy they (the subtle bodies) were.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Yeshua and Mary realized that the yogi superpowers are nothing less than them moving to another dimension; the dimension with higher vibrations, where all their bodies, including the physical ones, assumed completely different parameters, where pain and discomfort don't exist, because the physical body seemingly dissolves and merges into the subtle bodies.

And if the yogis – performers, after a long training, could enter such state for only moments, the yogis – Initiates could stay in it for years...

In those times, the school of yogis already existed, and Mary and Yeshua visited several classes in such schools to learn the basics of yoga and feel its energy.

It was a very interesting and exciting experience. But they understood clearly that they went through such an arduous journey not exactly for that; the goal of their journey was different.

They had to reach the Great Initiates and acquire a profound true knowledge from them, which had been accumulated through the centuries and stayed hidden in this mysterious place in the mountains of Tibet.

They knew that their mission was to bring this knowledge to people; that only they could change people's consciousness and return them their Divine sparks; the sparks that were lost when they became submerged into the three-dimensional world.

The Trip to Tibet

Let's continue our story about Yeshua's and Mary Magdalene's trip to India.

They had been there a year already. By that time, Mary was expecting a child, and it became difficult for them to travel. So they decided to stay in a small town in Northwest India, which wasn't too far from their destination.

The Creator helped them once again by sending them good people and providing them with a roof over their heads.

They stayed with quite a well-off family, who were pleasant and kind people. They were also very devoted Buddhists.

Yeshua had a great pair of hands, which served him well. He began to do restoration work on their house and at the same time looked after their garden.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The family had several children, and that is why the hostess treated Mary, who was about to give birth, with much love and tenderness.

When Mary's contractions started, the hostess invited a midwife, who had helped deliver her own children.

Everything went well and Mary gave birth to a healthy and beautiful boy.

The happy parents could not take eyes off their small miracle, and spent every free minute with him.

But Yeshua knew that he couldn't allow himself to enjoy his family happiness for a long time. He had to fulfill his mission, which was the reason why he embarked on this long journey in the first place.

And no matter how difficult it was to part with Mary and the baby, he had to continue the journey by himself, leaving his family for some time under the care of their protectors, who came to love Mary and their son with all their hearts.

Mary was happy to help them with housework and look after the kids.

Her joyful character, her wisdom and tact, infused love and goodness into the family atmosphere; and for that the hosts were very grateful.

It all happened so naturally and harmoniously, that Yeshua and Mary had no doubts that once again the Higher Powers took them under their wing.

That is why Yeshua was able to say good bye to his beloved ones with peace in his heart, and embarked on a journey alone.

He knew that the mountains of Tibet was a very harsh region, and was happy that he left his family in a nice, warm home with good and kind people.

This time, he did not stop on his way, but went straight to his destination.

Tibet was a beautiful and magnificent place, with pure and transparent air, and unusual silence.

It was a real abode of Gods...

But where could the Great Initiates be, of whom the Essenes told him? He had to find them no matter what.

He started off by finding a shelter in a tiny village, which was located right at the foot of the mountain, and slowly began to get acquainted with its inhabitants.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

They were very different from regular Indians and conversed in a language he did not know, but, fortunately, they understood him.

Soon, he found a guide, who offered to show him where the Mountain Kailash was -the ultimate goal of his travel.

After loading the mule with supplies of food and warm clothes, they started their journey.

We will stop here today.

Mount Kailash

Today in our story we have reached the most important period of Yeshua's life, when he was permitted to touch the primary source of all Being -the Great Agartha, the main Repository of the history of Earth. And Mount Kailash was the entrance into Agartha.

28

But let's start in order.

The journey towards the foot of the mountain took a few days. But as soon as it appeared in the distance, a strange feeling took hold of him, a feeling he had never experienced before. It was difficult to describe it with words.

It seemed to him that he was shifting into a different world, in which all the familiar feelings and emotions, and even the bodily senses were changing.

It seemed to Yeshua that he became huge, filling up the whole Earth, and at the same time he felt like a tiny speck of dust in the Universe.

He did not feel the cold, hunger or thirst.

He was filled with such a bliss. It seemed his body would not be able to tolerate this flow of Love, in which he found himself and which was carrying him gently and carefully towards this remarkable mountain.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

But at the same time, something strange was happening with his guide. The guide was writhing with pain and could not make a single step further. He was in panic from fear. He said he would not go any further for any amount of money and rushed back.

Yeshua was left by himself, but not only did he not feel any fear, but on the contrary, it seemed like he was flying on the wings towards this astonishing mountain that looked like a pyramid.

And then he heard a voice in his head. Or rather not a voice, but warm pulsating waves which were transmitting information.

He suddenly realized with his whole being that it was the voice of God.

He heard the following, "Do not be afraid, my beloved son! You are Home among friends. You are loved and are being waited for in this Divine country named Agartha.

Just close your eyes and ask to take you where the Greatest Souls who have ever lived on Earth will meet you. You are one of them, and the only difference between you and them is that you are still in your physical body, whilst they have already finished their earthy paths and have completed the cycle of incarnations.

They have so much to tell you. And you are the first one, whom I gift the opportunity to enter this Great Country whilst still in incarnation.

It will be a beginning of your Service, your Mission, that you have chosen before coming to Earth.

You will find out about the history of Earth and the history of your Soul. That will allow you to realize fully who you really are.

You will meet your Star family, who will become the source of support on your path, as well as other Great Souls, who have been accompanying you so far and will continue to do so in this life.

All of them are eagerly expecting you."

Yeshua closed his eyes, and entering a meditative state, thanked God for his Love and trust, and asked to be moved to Agartha.

Immediately, he sensed how the space around him started to change.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It seemed that the layers of air started to shift, moving away an invisible veil. And his body softly but surely started to "seep through" invisible air membranes...

Suddenly, he felt an unusual lightness and a complete freedom from his physical shell, as if his invisible non physical twin slipped out of him.

He opened his eyes and noticed that he was still in his body, but the body became translucent and luminous.

He looked around and felt like he found himself in a fairytale.

Agartha

Last time our story stopped when Yeshua shifted into Agartha with all his bodies.

He was standing in the middle of a beautiful Temple. It was enormous, and soon Yeshua understood why.

The Priests of Agartha, who came out to greet him from the doors hidden behind the columns, were very very tall.

This Temple was the main sanctuary of Agartha, where representatives of all civilizations that have ever existed on Earth were gathering together to make decisions.

Yeshua suddenly felt so small and so lost amidst all this greatness and magnificence.

The Priests, sensing his state of mind, enveloped him in the unseen cloud of Love, and the feeling of Bliss came over him again.

Then they addressed Yeshua with friendly smiles. But just as the Father, they did not speak any words, but transmitted their thoughts into his head telepathically with warm, soft pulsations.

There were three Priests who represented the three greatest civilizations: Hyperborea, Lemuria and Atlantis.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

They said they were very happy to see Yeshua in their beautiful country and that he would have to spend a sufficient amount of time there, because the great mission lying ahead of him on Earth, required careful preparation.

It was decided that what was only revealed to souls once they were already in the process of transition between reincarnations, in subtle planes of existence, will be revealed to Yeshua while he was still alive.

This exception was made in an attempt to prevent the final fall of mankind into low vibrations, given its current critical state.

They explained to Yeshua that he was the greatest Soul, who came to Earth from an eighth-dimensional world; that his Soul consciously took upon himself the mission of saving humanity, whilst completely understanding how difficult it would be for him to fulfill the mission after descending into the world of duality and becoming a man.

To help him with this mission, the other half of the soul – his female principle, his twin flame, was sent to Earth as well, incarnating as Mary Magdalene.

And now they both approached the very threshold of their Service.

But God-Father and the Higher Powers of the Universe, who were guiding Yeshua in his life, saw that human beings had already fallen so low that mere words would not succeed in raising their consciousness, dimmed by the programs encoded by the reptilians, to a proper level.

Therefore, it was decided to increase his influence on people through a demonstration of real miracles. It would show them what one was truly capable of once they realized themselves as a part of God and cleared their consciousness of the programs of duality.

That was the reason why Yeshua was present among these beings – those who possessed such abilities while they were living in their physical bodies on Earth. And after uniting with his Star family, he would be able to bring their qualities and abilities to Earth, where he could demonstrate them to people, whilst staying simultaneously in two dimensions.

The task ahead of him was extremely difficult, but now he had his Heavenly teachers. They started by taking Yeshua for a trip around the enormous country of Agartha to familiarize him with or rather help him remember the history of this beautiful planet, where he had already lived many times before in his very different incarnations.

We will stop here today.

The Path of the Soul

We will continue with our story about Yeshua's stay in the wonderful country of Agartha, which the Priests of Agartha started to show him.

It seemed to Yeshua that it consisted of many separate countries and civilizations, because this unique Repository of the Earth history included not only the best representatives of each civilization, but also all the unique species of its plant and animal kingdoms.

It was really an exciting trip. Yeshua was moving around this country with the Priests, who accompanied him, in a very astonishing way - they immediately appeared where they wanted to be.

As the Priests explained to Yeshua, all the inhabitants of Agartha lived in the Fifth-dimensional vibrations or higher, and that is why they could move to any point in space just with the power of their thoughts, and not only within Agartha but also beyond its borders.

And they immediately demonstrated that to Yeshua, moving with him to his Eight-dimensional planet, which was located in a different Galaxy and did not have its representatives in Agartha.

The Priests carried Yeshua there in their own energy fields, because Yeshua was still not accustomed to this wonderful magical world.

But as soon as he found himself on this planet in familiar vibrations, he immediately recognized his Home, feeling the presence of his kindred Souls, who quickly surrounded Yeshua and, it seemed, performed a Dance of Love around him.

Their bodies were so sparse and luminous that they looked like clouds pierced with sunlight.

His Soul was elated. He recognized his beloved, kindred Souls - his Star Family - and on impulse joined them in the Divine Dance of Love.

It was a fascinating sight... But they had to return to Agartha.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The goal of this journey was reached. Yeshua now remembered who he was and where he came from, and this memory could not be erased from his consciousness, which usually happens, when a soul descends to Earth to incarnate in a physical body.

In a moment, they were back in the main Sanctuary of Agartha. And now Yeshua had to regain the memory of all his incarnations on Earth, as he had descended there more than once to enable his Soul to gain the priceless experience of life in different dimensions.

They were showing him his past lives as pictures, highlighting the most important and meaningful episodes of those incarnations, which helped him remember the goals and tasks that his Soul had set and planned for him before his another descent to this beautiful planet Earth.

He understood that Earth is also his home, where he had lived before and experienced so much, where each new incarnation served to hone a new facet of the Divine Crystal of Love kept in his heart.

He suddenly saw very clearly and distinctly the whole path of his Soul - so diverse, multilayered and multidimensional.

He comprehended the depth of the Creator's plan.

And this insight, like a lightening, pierced all his being.

He realized himself as a God-man, for whom anything is possible.

He was filled with such Love and Gratitude for the knowledge gifted to him that, it seemed, he became complete LOVE, which he wanted to share with the entire world, with all the people, animals and plants - with the whole Universe.

And he now knew that this feeling will never leave him...

Training in Agartha

Today we will tell you about the last days of Yeshua's stay in Agartha.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He did not feel the passage of time, because the world of Agartha was so unlike the material world of Earth - different laws were working there, both spiritual and physical.

Now Yeshua was being trained to transfer to Earth the state in which he was now, to be able to live on Earth without losing his higher vibrations, staying simultaneously in several dimensions, and moving freely from one to another.

However, what was considered ordinary in Agartha, was considered a miracle on Earth.

Thus, almost all the inhabitants of Agartha possessed skills of teleportation and telekinesis, could freely fly and walk on water, as well as manifest everything they wanted with the power of their thoughts.

Yeshua also had to learn something that had the greatest significance to people – the power of healing!

In Agartha, the need for healing became obsolete, because negative energies, and hence any illnesses, could not enter this Divine space of the highest vibrations.

But for the people of Earth the healing of life-threatening illnesses was a real miracle that could change their consciousness around and help them step upon the spiritual path.

Yeshua had to learn how to move a person into his energy field, where any disease, which consists of a mass of negative energy, would be dissolved without a trace, washed off by the Divine energy of Light and Love.

To master that, he was trained by the greatest yogis living in Agartha. They taught him how to concentrate this magic energy in his subtle bodies and to keep it there for as long as possible.

Yeshua proved to be a good student. He managed to achieve the state of constant existing in those energies, whilst simultaneously being in the three-dimensional world.

The training that he went through, could be compared to launching a person from space to Earth, where he had to maintain a state of weightlessness when walking on the Earth...

And now there was only one last necessary touch left before his return to Earth.

He needed explanations for his miracles. And that's when God-Father came to help him.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He concisely and clearly explained to Yeshua the postulates that were to form the foundation of his Teaching.

These were the Laws of the Universe, based upon spiritual values, by following which one could find real happiness, joy, wellbeing and health; and could live in love and harmony with themselves and the world.

His Teaching was to become a guiding North Star, leading people out of the darkness of the dual world. And Yeshua himself was to become a bright example of what a person, who lives according to these Laws and knows that he or she is a part of God, is able to achieve.

Yeshua had to return to Jerusalem, which at the time was the center of attraction for many nations living on Palestinian land, and which was also an embodiment of duality, where only money and power were revered, and where a rebirth of spirituality would be of special value and significance.

He had to dissolve all the energies of low vibrations accumulated there with the power of his Love and that would change the consciousness of people and return them to God.

And he had to show them by his own example that it was possible.

Farewell to Agartha

Now, the time has come for Yeshua to leave Agartha and to step upon his own journey.

He understood that the unseen presence of his Heavenly Teachers would support him very much, and that knowledge filled his entire being with calmness and confidence that everything would be exactly as it was intended by the Creator and his own Soul.

The minute of their parting came, and it became a great, final chord that raised him to a height unseen by a human being before, and sounded in him until the end of his earthly path.

In the main Sanctuary of Agartha, the Elders of all civilizations inhabiting the country gathered together.

They blessed Yeshua in a wonderful way. Each of them imparted an energetic impulse, characteristic of their own civilization, into him.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It was similar to the way a family prepares their beloved relative for a long journey, putting their gifts in his or her travel bag.

But those Divine gifts, which the residents of Agartha shared with Yeshua, were truly priceless. They contained a concentration of all the best things that each civilization had derived from their own experiences on Earth.

In other words, they were nourishing Yeshua with the highest vibrations that had ever existed on the planet.

He absorbed all the experiences of Earth accumulated for thousands of years, so that he could later share them with people and help them remember their great origin and return them Home - to God.

And in the very last moment God-Father himself came to bless his beloved son.

He appeared as a dazzling flash of golden light.

It was Love in its pure form - Unconditional, Unlimited, and All-Encompassing.

It penetrated every cell of Yeshua's body, gradually expanding and filling the whole space around - the whole planet, the whole Galaxy, and the entire Universe.

He did not feel his body anymore. It dissolved in this Love just as his consciousness.

And he was carried out of the land of Agartha on this beautiful, Divine wave of Love. After a moment, he found himself at the same place where his journey to this wonderful country started.

To his astonishment, the same guide was standing next to his mule, as if they had parted a minute ago.

But the guide did not see him. He was looking through him, not feeling his presence.

And then he heard the Voice of the Father in his head: "My son, in order to return to the third dimension, you have to consolidate your body. Just think about it and you will return to your former state."

Yeshua remembered himself as he had been before his visit to Agartha, and immediately felt his body.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The guide rushed to him immediately and started to tell anxiously what had happened to him during this time.

He returned to his village, frightened by that unprecedented force that fell upon him at the foot of the mountain.

But soon an overwhelming desire to return back took hold of him. It seemed that someone invisible took him by the hand and led him to the same place where he left Yeshua.

It turned out that Yeshua was absent for only a few hours, but to him they seemed like an eternity, completely changing his consciousness and all his subsequent life.

They started on their way back. A new stage of his life was beginning, and his first wish was to embrace his beloved Mary and their son...

The First Miracle

So, a new stage in Yeshua's life began, because he now felt not like an ordinary man, but as a being who had been on the other side of the veil, separating the material world from the subtle.

He was given the opportunity not only to keep the memory of this trip, but to bring the state of being in high vibrations to the three-dimensional world, and, most importantly, to learn to live in the physical world without "losing" these vibrations.

He was fully aware of this great responsibility, but, on the other hand, he wanted to preserve his other human qualities and to remain his joyful, ironic, open, friendly self, as well as a loving husband and father, and not turn into a guru, that preaches to people with a sense of his own importance.

He wanted to still be an ordinary person, who changes the world with the power of his Love.

And Yeshua decided to start small - by trying his healing abilities. Soon such an opportunity came around.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

When they arrived in the village, from which they began their journey, the guide offered Yeshua to spend the night in his house, before going on.

The father of the guide was laying on a mat in the corner. His entire right side was paralyzed.

Yeshua went up to him, stretching his arms forward in such a way that he could cover the body of the old man, closed his eyes and, in his mind, enveloped the man in the Divine energy of Light and Love, that was flowing from his heart chakra in a powerful stream.

Yeshua imagined how the motionless flesh of the old man comes to live, as black sticky clots of energy dissolved in the stream, becoming a golden light.

He "saw" with his inner eyes that the old man gets up from his mat, happily gazing around, not quite believing his happiness...

And this picture was so bright and vivid, that Yeshua understood that his experiment succeeded.

He opened his eyes and saw that the old man looks at him intently. Then Yeshua looked at the paralyzed arm. The fingers of the man's hand first twitched tentatively and then began to move.

The guide, who was witnessing the scene, rushed to his father, threw back his cover and started to watch what was happening with his body. It began to come alive before his very eyes.

His family, hearing his happy cries, gathered around. They looked first at Yeshua, then at the old man, not believing their eyes.

And only after the old man slowly, carefully, with the help of his son, got up, they finally believed in the reality of the healing miracle.

They looked at Yeshua like he was God descended from Heavens. And he stood happy, with a joyful smile on his face; and when they asked him how could he create such a miracle, he answered shyly that Mount Kailash had shared its power with him.

Now Yeshua knew that he really was able to transfer to Earth all the Divine knowledge and mastery that the inhabitants of Agartha gave him so generously, and that from now on these gifts will be his faithful companions and assistants for the rest of his life.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The hosts of the house thanked him generously, equipping him well for the long journey ahead, and without delaying anywhere further, he started on his way to his beloved family.

We will stop here today.

The Return

We have reached the point in our story, when Yeshua and Mary Magdalene finally stepped on the path of their Service, for the purpose of which their Soul incarnated on Earth, this time in both male and female principles at the same time.

The fact that in Agartha they accepted only one male half did not mean that the knowledge and experience received by Yeshua, did not extend to his female half.

That's exactly what happened, when Yeshua finally reached the familiar home and embraced his beloved Mary, his own part, and their son who had grown a lot.

What happened next was similar to magic.

The energy field of Yeshua, it seemed, absorbed within itself all the subtle bodies of his beloved, transforming them into radiant bodies of light, filling them with energies of the highest vibrations.

This immediately reflected on her physical body. The face of Mary, her radiant eyes, all her appearance took on Heavenly luminosity, glow and unexplainable gentleness.

She became the embodiment of Love and Goodness. It was Femininity in all its beauty and deepness.

For her, the return of Yeshua became not only a reunion with her beloved husband, but the beginning of their new - yet unexplored life in their new quality as God-Men...

Yeshua shared with her everything that happened with him in Agartha. He told her about his trip to their native planet, and what a wonderful welcome he received from their Star family.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He "led her by the hand" along the entire fairy-tale route, that he had just completed himself, and she eagerly absorbed all his sensations, impressions, the energies of those places, and was imbued with the vibrations of ancient civilizations that once lived on Earth and the energy of their Star family.

She felt how all her consciousness, her body, her entire being were changing...

She understood that this process was irreversible, that she also enters this wonderful, previously unknown to her world forever - to live in it and to carry to the people of Earth this Light and Love, that was filling her now; and that would henceforth be the purpose of their life with Yeshua.

She accepted this Service with joy. She knew that no one and nothing can force them to turn off this path, which their Soul chose before coming to Earth.

She accepted this great responsibility, this "weight" that fell on her shoulders, with Love and Gratitude.

They were both perfectly aware of the danger they could face in Jerusalem, where they had to return. Where the power of money and cruel laws ruled, suppressing the will of man.

The consciousness of the people was not ready to accept the Divine knowledge, and there was a great and painstaking work ahead of them, the work that would demand all their energy and time.

They came to a very difficult decision - to leave their beloved child under the care of their benefactors; because they had such a long road ahead of them, and their future was completely uncertain.

But here, in this blessed home, where he was loved as their own son, the child would be in complete safety, well fed and dressed, and what was even more important, the spirit of Buddhism reigning in this home was very close to them.

They would be happy if their son could absorb this purity and Love for all sentient beings, which was the essence of this ancient Indian religion.

However, this parting was not easy for them. But the peace and safety of their son outweighed their parental love.

After saying good bye to their benefactors and kissing their darling little boy, they went to search for a caravan, that would take them to Jerusalem in the shortest possible time.

The New Reality

So, Yeshua and Mary set out on their return journey.

The whole time they were feeling as if they were not alone, that the Higher Powers were with them, leading them by the hand, arranging everything for them in a wonderful way.

They quickly found a caravan, with which they crossed the whole of India and moved further towards the Jewish lands.

The journey took several months. During this time, they were able to develop their abilities, imbedded in them by the citizens of Agartha, even more.

They learned to live in the third dimension anew. Now, it appeared to them as a theater stage, on which dramas and comedies were played, where people displayed their lowest and highest qualities, where the eternal battle between the good and the evil was waged...

Yeshua and Mary could see everything in its unconcealed form, as if reading the thoughts and emotions of people, glancing into the most hidden corners of their souls.

This happened involuntary - not because they wanted to, but because the souls of people became "transparent" to them.

But the most surprising thing was that even the lowest human emotions and most devious deeds did not elicit indignation, condemnation or aggression from them...

They were able to see the causes of these acts, penetrating into the very essence of this endless "play" on the stages of the three-dimensional world, where every Soul has its own task, its own role, its own line of work, which their souls had chosen before coming to Earth.

Yeshua and Mary were sending their Unconditional and Unlimited Love to each person they met, regardless of whether they were good or bad, rich or poor, sick or healthy, generous or greedy...

They realized that they had "outgrown" the garments of the dual world; that they already lived in another space, where there was no division between people, and therefore no evaluation or judgment of people and their actions.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

They needed to get used to these new feelings and sensations and to learn how to live in such a way as to naturally and harmoniously fit into this already alien to them dual life.

And this long trip was very helpful for them, because it allowed them to slowly and calmly get used to this new reality, and to develop the inner habit of hiding the fact that they see through people, because they were not ready for that.

They could not allow themselves to break the rules of the game, to rewrite the script, that these Souls had chosen, they could not invade the emotional and mental spaces of strangers.

They could only be outside observers, benevolent spectators.

But, on the other hand, they also had to prepare their own "scenario" of the Divine "play," for which they came to Earth, descending from the heights of the eighth-dimension to this three-dimensional world to help humanity to ascend at least one step higher...

And they decided to start by constantly filling the space around them with the Divine Light and Love and observing how people react to it.

42

There were many unexpected surprises waiting for them, both disappointing and pleasant ones. The actions of the people caught in the Divine streams were sometimes unpredictable, as they could not understand or explain their souls' impulses.

It was similar to how people dive into the water – some go to the bottom like a stone and others float to the surface and rock on the waves, spreading arms with bliss.

That is how Yeshua and Mary gradually learned their first lessons on Earth in their new quality of God-Men.

The Precious Experience

Let's continue our story about the lives of Yeshua and Mary Magdalene in the new reality, that was new to them.

Very few people could notice, let alone realize, what an unusual couple was next to them, because Yeshua and Mary Magdalene did not appear any different to the rest, except for, perhaps, their rarest benevolence.

They were young, joyful and witty. People were involuntarily attracted to them, wanting to be charged with their lively energy and to simply enjoy socializing with this sweet beautiful couple.

The caravan consisted of very different people, about thirty of them or more. They were rich merchants, camel riders and just travelers, who were afraid to go on such a faraway journey by themselves.

It was a peculiar sample of society - people of all ages and classes. And Mary and Yeshua observed with interest how they reacted to the Divine energies with which they filled the space around them.

It seemed that the Higher Powers created such ideal conditions for their beloved children. All their fellow travelers were constantly in their sight; and Yeshua and Mary could calmly and unhurriedly observe the behavior of people of the three-dimensional world, who got caught in the energy field of high vibrations.

First thing they noticed was the great endurance and stamina of all the participants of this long trip in the uneasy conditions on the road. And it was characteristic not only of the people, but of the animals as well.

None of them got sick, and, what was especially pleasant, none of them experienced physical overloads, even though their daily treks were incomparably longer than the ones they did on the way to India.

They also noticed that the atmosphere in the caravan was surprisingly peaceful and benevolent.

And if some small disputes or frictions did arise, Yeshua sent an additional energy stream from his heart chakra towards these people, and the looming conflict got dissolved in it before it even started.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

But the most interesting of their observations was that the small wounds that were inevitable on the road, healed almost immediately, being in this unusual energy field of high vibrations.

It was a truly precious experience, because in normal conditions it would be very difficult for them to track the results of their "work."

Yeshua did not even have to demonstrate his healing miracles for so smooth and harmonious everything was.

The only thing they could not test during this very long trip, was the people's reaction to their stories about the spiritual side of life, about the Divine laws, that would help them reveal that side of life for themselves.

It was difficult to do it on the move, and in the evening everyone instantly fell asleep, exhausted by the long road.

And then came the long-awaited day, when they set foot on the land of Judaea.

First of all, Yeshua and Mary found their families, from whom they had not received any news during the long months of their travel.

44

Fortunately, everyone was alive and well, and they were extremely happy about their return.

Maria, Yeshua's mother, was the first one to notice the invisible change, that occurred in her beloved children.

She sensed a certain mystery, wisdom, depth, which were radiated by their eyes. It seemed, they returned from some other world where there was neither sorrow or suffering, but only Love and Light.

Yeshua only shared what happened to them during the long months of traveling with his beloved mother.

And she accepted with all her Soul their Great Mission - their Service for the good of people, and she vowed to always be with Yeshua and Mary and to become their first helper.

The First Students

What happened to Yeshua and Mary next, could be called the Transformation of reality. And this is how it all happened.

They settled in a small house on the outskirts of Jerusalem and started by surrounding this space with the impenetrable veil of Light and Love. This place became the small island of a different life – the life that was originally conceived by the Creator.

It was interesting for Yeshua and Mary to observe how this world of high vibrations, created by them, could come into contact with the three-dimensional world.

And soon, astonishing things started to happen. They started to attract unusually pure and bright people, who appeared in their life by "coincidence" as if from nowhere. Always hospitable and benevolent, Yeshua and Mary welcomed them cordially. With them they could already talk about what they knew themselves and convey to them those Divine truths, that were first revealed to them by the Essenes, and then by the God-Father and the inhabitants of Agartha.

These people were ready to hear them. It seemed, they had been waiting for them for a long time - so naturally this knowledge was absorbed into their hearts and souls.

45

And that's how, gradually, Yeshua gathered like-minded people and assistants around him. Later, some of them would be called "apostles."

And of course, these people did not appear around him by chance. They were also great souls, who came to Earth with the mission of awakening humanity.

But only Yeshua was destined to become the unifying and connecting link in this community of great awoken souls, for he was capable of showing in practice what a man, who realized himself as a part of God and accepted within himself the energies of Agartha and God-Father, was capable of.

Then a series of miraculous healings started, and the glory of these healings has come down to your days.

Yeshua, knowing the laws of the Universe and understanding that each soul goes through its own unique and much-needed experience, asked God the Father and the Higher Powers to send him only those people, for whom healing would become the next step for spiritual growth; who were ready to use the miracle of healing, gifted to them, for the good, and not to fall further into the world of duality – in other words, only those for whom this intervention would not become a hindrance to the development of their souls.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He, like no one else, knew and understood that good deeds are not really always done for the good of all...

And the Higher Powers heard him. Those people, whom he miraculously healed, were transformed not only physically, but spiritually right in front of one's eyes.

The divine touch of Yeshua revived not only their bodies, but also their Souls.

These people could not live as they had lived before anymore. They began to search for the higher meaning of their existence, they learned to listen to themselves, and started seeking their true life purpose.

They tried to help others in the same way that Yeshua helped them, by freeing them from suffering, sorrow and despair.

Yeshua never asked for money for his miraculous healings, but his and Mary's life unfolded in such a remarkable way that they never lacked anything.

46

People thanked them from the Soul – whatever one felt comfortable with, and their sincere heartfelt gratitude carried the energy of such high vibrations that the space of Love and Light that reigned around Yeshua and Mary grew wider and wider, drawing more and more people in.

But, unfortunately, on the other side of the border of the world created by them, the life of the three-dimensional society with all its attributes continued to seethe.

Yeshua understood what a gigantic work was ahead of him, but the foundation for it was already laid.

On the Road Again

Let's continue our story.

What happened to Yeshua and Mary next, can be compared to the ascent to a high mountain, because the world that surrounded them was made of inaccessible summits of hypocrisy, lies, greed, lies, selfishness, lust for power...

And they stood at the foot of this "mountain," not knowing from which side to begin their ascent.

Unlike ordinary people, who cleverly climbed up using all kinds of auxiliary tools in the form of flattery, cunning, bribery and much more, Yeshua and Mary were only given the Unconditional Love as help.

And it was only with this Love that they had to change the world – to bring the principles of spirituality and different human values into it.

It seemed, they were swimming against the current, and there was no end to that.

Several years passed, and Mary gave birth to a baby girl, who lit up their life with endless joy and happiness.

But they greatly missed their son, who had been left in faraway India.

And after a long consideration, they decided to go there again.

It was also necessary for them to take a break from their untiring work in enlightening people.

By that time, Yeshua had enough disciples, who were ready to follow him and to carry the Divine knowledge to people.

They saw how happy and harmonious was Yeshua and Mary's life, filled with Love and trust in the world.

They understood that the values they were preaching were not simply beautiful words, but the way of thinking, the way of life; and that they actually did have a part of God within them.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Yeshua blessed his disciples for the continuation of the work he had started, and embarked on the journey to India with Mary and their small daughter.

They not only wanted to see their beloved son, but they also wanted to breathe the air of India once again- this beautiful country that was so close to them in spirit.

They decided to calmly think about their future, because they understood that the most difficult part of their path was ahead of them. So far they had only made the first step towards their goal, which was to make their Teaching truly widespread.

It was important for them that people started to think about the meaning of their existence, so that they could realize through practice that if they follow the Laws of the Universe, they will become capable of completely changing their lives, return to their origins and become the God-Men that they were once created to be by the Creator.

During these several years in Judaea, they realized just how difficult their task was and how few people were ready to hear them.

The vibrations of the people of the three-dimensional world were too low, and the streams of Light and Love that Yeshua and Mary were sending out broke against the "thickness" of negative energies, that the consciousness of people had been feeding on for many centuries.

48

Yeshua and Mary needed a break and time to think about their future actions.

They embarked on this far journey, hoping to see from afar what they could not see clearly from close.

And as it had always happened in their lives before, the Higher Powers led them to good people, whose caravan was leaving for India.

And thus the new cycle of their travels began, which helped them to realize so much and to sum up what they had already done.

The Long-Awaited Meeting

So, our travelers' already familiar journey to India, which took them a few months, came to an end. They were at the gates of the familiar house.

The first person they saw was their beloved son, who was looking at the strangers with curiosity.

A moment later, he smiled trustingly and shyly walked towards them.

It is impossible to convey in words the feelings of both parents at the site of their considerably grown-up boy. They did not hide their tears, but the boy looked at them with surprise, not understanding why they were crying.

And then their hostess appeared in the doorway. Initially, she could not believe her eyes, so unexpected was their appearance.

But when, at last, she realized that it was Yeshua and Mary, standing before her safe and sound, Mary with a little girl in her hands, her joy was boundless.

The first few days went by with endless stories about how their son had been growing up, how smart and cheerful he was, and how much joy he gave to the people around him.

He was told that his mother and father went away for a while, but they would definitely return.

And now the child was looking at them with apparent curiosity, as if trying to remember what they were like at the moment of their departure.

Mary did not let the little boy off her hands, constantly hugging and kissing him, as if she wanted to make up for the lost joy over the years of not being together.

He was already four and a half years old, and spoke very well already, amusingly telling his parents stories about his life.

Fortunately, Yeshua and Mary still remembered the dialect of this region, so their conversations gave them unspeakable pleasure.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It was one of the happiest periods of their lives, when the whole family was together, and their dear benefactors were happy for them just as much as they were themselves.

They lived together for almost half a year. As before, Mary helped with the household chores in this big family, which had grown and already included grandchildren. Yeshua earned a reputation of a well known healer and miracle worker.

He used his knowledge and skills to the full, but realized that that was not the goal of his life.

He had to find that "key," that would open the "door" to the hearts of thousands and even hundreds of thousands of people living in darkness, but he still could not find it.

And then he made a decision to take a second trip to Mount Kailash, to be able to immerse again into the Divine atmosphere of Agartha and ask advice from its Priests.

He dreamed of dissolving in the Unconditional and Unlimited Love of the God-Father.

He wanted to beg Him for help, because he could not find the right solution himself.

He was ready to sacrifice everything, even his life, in the name of the Service that his Soul chose. However, he wanted to do it so that his sacrifice would not be in vain, but would help to awaken the consciousness of as many people as possible.

50

That's what was behind his decision to go to Mount Kailash for the second time, leaving his family for some time.

Conversation with God

Yeshua set off towards Mount Kailash. He found the same guide, who gladly agreed to escort him to the same mysterious place, the power of which helped to heal his father.

Everything happened according to the same scenario, the only difference was that this time Yeshua himself asked the Priests of Agartha to let him enter their sacred country.

His request was immediately granted and he found himself in the familial Temple, where he once received the warmest welcome.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Yeshua felt so good and full of light in his heart and Soul in these blessed Divine energies! He was floating in them, dissolving in them, enjoying the streams of Light and Love flowing on him from every direction.

Again, he was feeling the richness and colourfulness of the energies of different civilizations, which were shared with him. He was absorbing them as a healing sacred elixir, that was reviving him to a new life -the more meaningful and eventful life.

But he was eagerly looking forward for the God-Father to come to him; he wanted to talk to Him, share his thoughts and doubts, and ask for His advice...

And God-Father came to him, just as the previous time, enveloping him in the bright golden flash of Light, carrying in itself the energy of Love of such inexpressible power that Yeshua's heart ached and his eyes filled with tears.

Yeshua did not have to explain anything to his Father. He knew everything about him, he understood him, he felt Yeshua as his own self.

And He started talking to Yeshua, just as before, inserting thoughts into his head with warm pulsing pushes.

And this is what he said to him this time:

"My beloved son! I am very proud of you! You proved to be a wonderful pupil!

You learned how to live and create according to the Laws of the Universe. You reached peace and harmony in your Soul. You learned to Love Unconditionally.

And now the time has come to do what you descended from the heights of your Star family to Earth for.

In order to attract the attention of a great number of people, you need a Symbol that will lead them like a guiding star.

And this Symbol could be a Cross, which will be a reflection of both the earthly and Divine origins of man.

It can change the consciousness of people and I will explain how this will happen.

By repeatedly crossing oneself many times, one will bring into themselves a part of God, reflected in the vertical line of the cross, and override one's earthly essence with the horizontal line.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

But for this Symbol to absorb all the power of Light and Love, you have to go through the rite of Baptism, which thousands and thousands of people will undergo after you.

For that, I will send you one of my best sons - John, whom people will name John The Baptist.

He will be executed by the Dark Forces, holding power in Judaea, for bringing this Divine Symbol to Earth, but it was the choice of his Soul. And after fulfilling its duty on Earth, it will gladly return home to those Higher Worlds, from which it descended upon this planet for the great mission of Service to humanity.

The same, my beloved, will happen to you! You are destined to part with your earthly life on the Cross. But, unlike John, you will demonstrate to people the Miracle of Resurrection.

That is exactly what will help to transform the consciousness of people and show them what a human being, who has managed to overcome his Ego, become the source of Light and Unconditional Love, realize that he is a part of God and therefore has mastery over everything not only in life, but in death as well, is capable of.

You will not suffer, my beloved! Your Soul will leave the body before they start torturing you!

But this Divine play will be "the key" that you have been searching for for such a long time to open the sacred "door," that leads to the true essence of man. And that key will make it possible to revive the Divine origin of man that has been lost throughout the centuries.

And I bless you, my beloved son, for this spiritual feat for the sake of saving humanity!"

We will stop here today...

The Future Life's Scenario

Let's continue our story.

After "the voice" of God stopped, Yeshua stood still for a long time, shocked by what had been said.

It was as if he had just seen in reality the scenario of all his future life.

Yeshua understood that after his return to Judea, he was not meant to lead a quiet family life, talking peacefully with his disciples and healing people.

Now the next "act" of the play, which he had planned to perform before coming to Earth, was starting, and it was clearly explained to him by God-Father just a moment before.

He accepted it with all his Soul. Yeshua was not frightened by death, because he knew very well that death does not exist – there is only a return Home, where he would be met with joy by his Star family and the Higher Powers, who were always there for him.

53

He also knew that Mary, his beloved wife, his Guardian Angel on this Earth, would accept with Love and understanding the sacrifice that he had to do in the name of his Service, since she was not just a woman, but his part, his Divine half, his twin flame...

She would know that after his physical death, he would always be near her in his "subtle" form, just as he would always be with their beloved children, helping them and guiding them to their true path in life.

And now, when the long-awaited "key," opening the doors that lead to the souls of people, was found, he started to ponder his first steps towards achieving his goal.

The Priests of Agartha, in their turn, had advised him to leave the children under the care of the Indian family, who had become a real family to them, because what was awaiting for him in Judea, could put them in considerable danger.

The Priests knew that Yeshua's most vulnerable point could be his beloved children, and therefore it was most likely that the reptiloids, who had seized all the levers of power in this country for themselves, would take advantage of that.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

There came a new period in the life of Yeshua, when his Service came to the fore. The Service for which he would have to sacrifice his family joys and quiet, peaceful life.

Before leaving Agartha, Yeshua was once again blessed by all the Priests and God-Father.

But this time, everything happened more splendidly and solemnly. Everyone understood what this Great Soul was about to do – he was ready to give his life for the awakening of people's consciousness and the return to their origins.

Yeshua knew that in this life he would never return to Agartha.

And he sincerely, with tears in his eyes, expressed his gratitude for the hospitality, help and advices, for the Light and Love with which the inhabitants of this wonderful country, existing in another dimension yet so close and dear to him, enveloped him.

After saying farewell to all of them, he immediately appeared on the other side of Mount Kailash, where his old guide was waiting for him. And right away, they set off on the return journey.

Now Yeshua was thinking about the details of his return to the Jewish lands, and was surprised how quickly the answers to all his questions came to him, as if he was accompanied by an entourage of invisible advisers.

But that's exactly how it was in reality. God-Father, the Higher Powers of the Universe, his Star family were always with him to support him, to give him more confidence, to fill him with Love and Light, Peace and Harmony.

And this invisible communication filled him with such joy and gave so much strength that he no longer doubted that he would play brilliantly the complicated role assigned to him in the Divine play called "The Resurrection from the Dead."

The Separation

It is difficult to convey in words the complex feelings that Mary experienced, when her beloved husband was telling her what they would have to go through.

Amongst others it was a joy for Yeshua who at last found what he had been searching for, for so long, which dispelled all his doubts and brought him to the path that would enable him to complete the work of his life, for which he was born, honorably.

It was also a sadness that the happiest period of their life, when they could quietly enjoy being together with their little ones and with each other, when they could live like ordinary people, was coming to an end.

But the greatest test for her was when Yeshua told her that the Priests had advised to leave the children in India, so as not to risk their lives.

It was the greatest sacrifice they had to make for the sake of their Service.

They spent a few more months in this blessed land where they were so happy and at peace.

They kept postponing their departure, unable to separate with their beloved children.

And then one day Yeshua heard the voice of God:

"My beloved son! You will be able to see your children by coming out of your body and moving through space. You have already mastered that.

You will be able to not only see your children, but also speak to them. Tell them about it and then the separation will not be so painful for you.

They will be happy here. I promise you.

Your son will be trained by the Great Initiates in one of the Tibetan monasteries and will continue your work in the land of India.

Your daughter will grow up to be a wonderful and kind young woman and will be a joy to Mary and your beloved mother.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Don't worry about them, my dear! Your children will understand all the greatness of what you are going to do; and they will never reproach you for having to leave them.

They will be proud of you and will love you without measure!"

Yeshua and Mary explained to the little ones in the best way they could why mom and dad must leave them, and assured them that they will always be close to them, will think about them and talk with them...

And then came the day of their departure - probably the saddest day in their life. They tried their very best to smile and joke for they wanted their children to remember them that way.

And only when they were out of their sight, Yeshua and Mary allowed themselves to cry. Yeshua understood very well that he, unlike Mary, would never see his beloved children again, and would never take them into his arms.

But he believed the Father that he would be able to help them and guide them in a completely different capacity - not as an earthly father, but as a God-man.

This time they were traveling slowly, stopping in the places they loved. And they stayed especially long on the shore of the ocean where they once had wonderful days during their first trip to India.

They wanted to be together, just the two of them, enjoy the Divine nature, and recharge their energy levels before the most difficult and important period of their lives, when they no longer belonged to themselves.

Mary never reproached her beloved Yeshua once and was ready to share with him any fate, even the most terrible one, because they were one Soul, two Divine halves – the unification of the male and female principles.

The Crucial Meeting

Let's continue with our story.

Yeshua and Mary returned to Judea. This time they settled in Jerusalem to feel the energy of the city and learn about the changes that happened during the years they were away.

Gradually, Yeshua found his disciples, dispersed throughout the land of Judea.

They were extremely happy about his return. They told Yeshua what they were able to do during the time of his absence.

Unfortunately, their hard work wasn't crowned with much success, because the disciples lacked the charisma inherent in Yeshua and the Unbounded and Unconditional Love that he radiated, and they could not demonstrate to people the miracles of healing.

Yeshua did not share with them all the details of the Divine plan, that God-Father had prepared for him, but simply tried to calm them and instill hope and faith in their own strength in them.

57

Soon, he had a vision that he was standing on the shore of the river Jordan, holding a white dove in the palm of his hand.

He regarded this as a sign that he definitely had to go to the river Jordan, and that it was the place where the sacred rite, of which God-Father had told him about, would take place.

Yeshua and Mary set off on their journey. And several disciples followed them as well.

During their journey, it seemed to Yeshua that all this time someone invisible was leading him by the hand, and eventually brought them to a small village that was located on the shore of the river Jordan.

There they heard about a strange man, who had recently appeared there and made a huge wooden cross.

Yeshua found out with great excitement that this man's name was John...

That's how "the prologue" of the great play, conceived by God-Father, started.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The next day, Yeshua found this mysterious man.

In his appearance, he did not look any different from a typical wanderer, but there was such deepness and wisdom in his eyes that Yeshua did not have any doubts that before him was that Great Soul of whom God-Father had spoken to him about.

Yeshua and John started to have an unhurried conversation, as if probing each other.

But very soon, they both realized that their meeting was not a coincidence, and that it would become crucial not only for themselves, but for many other people too.

John, feeling unlimited trust for this charming young man, whose eyes radiated kindness and love, told him what had happened to him several months ago.

During one of his prayers, he asked God to reveal to him his true mission in life. He felt that he came to Earth for something important, but could not understand exactly what for.

And, to his great wonder, he heard the voice of God:

"My son, you came to Earth to give people the Symbol of Faith, and this Symbol should be embodied in the Cross.

From now on, you will tell people that the Sign of the Cross will become that Divine "impulse," that will help them realize themselves as a part of God and return them their lost abilities to live and create in the rays of Light and Love.

But for this to happen, you must perform the rite of Baptism. It will carry in itself a symbolic cleansing from abomination and will consist in the fact that, by putting the sign of the cross on someone and then submerging them into the water, you will revive them to a new life, and help them find their true essence as a God-Man."

The Baptism

Thus, our story is reaching a transformative moment in Yeshua's life when his special gifts already took on the Divine coloring.

And that's how it all happened.

Yeshua, in his turn, told John about his conversation with God, where He has mentioned about the man named John, whom people would call John the Baptist, and about a special mission he had to fulfill. The only thing Yeshua kept hidden for a while was John's unfortunate destiny to end his life on the scaffold.

Both of them fully realized that their meeting was predestined from the Above, that they had a common mission, and that the sooner they would start their actions the more people they could bring to God.

Yeshua also understood that his own Baptism must be staged in an unusual way - that as many people as possible should witness his Transformation and the following miracles.

59

That is why for the first Baptism, Yeshua and John chose a holiday when the majority of the villagers gathered in the market square not far from the river.

The disciples of Yeshua volunteered to be the heralds of this great event and called the people to the shore of the river Jordan, where they could observe the never seen before rite of transformation of the regular person into Divine Man, capable of creating miracles.

And this crucial day has arrived.

Wearing long white garments, Yeshua and John came out to the shore of the river. John was carrying the large size cross, which he held with outstretched arms in front.

Yeshua was following him with his head slightly bent down. It seemed that his thoughts were very far away from the people, from this place, from the rest of the world.

His face radiated such unearthly Kindness and Love that people involuntary stopped as if enchanted, and then slowly followed this unusual man unable to take their eyes off him.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

When they reached the water, Yeshua and John noticed that quite a big crowd of people already gathered, impatient to see the miracles promised to them.

Summoning the Higher Forces of the Universe, they entered the waters of the river Jordan.

Standing across from Yeshua, John crossed him with a wide cross and said solemnly,

"From now on and forever you are a part of God on Earth, destined to carry the Light and Love to the people.

I cleanse you from all your sins, committed consciously or unconsciously, from all the thoughts, not coming from God, from all the actions, not carrying Love.

I purify you with the holy waters of Jordan."

Uttering these words, John put his hand on Yeshua's head and submerged him into the water for several seconds.

When Yeshua stood up, John crossed him with the sign of the cross three times.

And right at that moment, a white dove appeared in the skies and started to descend rapidly, and then slowly and solemnly perched on the palms of Yeshua's hands.

Yeshua accepted that as a sign from God, that everything happened exactly as he has planned. With a smile on his lips, he raised his arms up and let the dove fly back to Heavens.

And then something unbelievable happened. He did not notice how he ascended and appeared on the very surface of the water.

He did not feel his body - it has become as light as a feather.

Yeshua glided on the water towards the shore until he stepped on the shore, followed by the astonished glances from the people...

We will stop here.

The First Sermon

Thus, we'll continue our story.

As soon as Yeshua stepped on the shore, the crowd parted and many people prostrated themselves before him. They decided that it was God himself who descended to them from Heavens.

People outstretched their arms towards him, asking for his blessing and help.

A young woman, with unnatural and stiffened expression on her face, attracted Yeshua's attention. He understood that she was blind.

He stopped in front of her and asked gently how long ago she became blind. She responded that it has happened several years ago as a result of an accident.

Yeshua stretched out his arms towards her, and felt that the Light started to flow from his palms into the blind eyes of the young woman with strong pulsing currents.

This current was so strong that she screamed from pain. But in a moment, she opened her eyes and froze from amazement. She slowly moved her glance from Yeshua to the people surrounding them, then she looked up in the skies, squinting from the bright sun, and suddenly realized that she regained her sight.

Recovering after initial amazement, people surrounded Yeshua in a tight circle, and one after another started to ask him to heal their loved ones. Now they did not doubt that God himself, incarnated as a man, was standing in front of them.

And then Yeshua decided to speak his first sermon. It seemed to him that right now the people, who witnessed the first rite of Baptism, will be able to understand its meaning; what it was carrying for the people; and why it was important to go through this rite.

He started from afar, remembering the first lessons the Essenes have taught him.

He tried to explain the truth to the people in a way as simple and accessible as possible, demonstrating with examples from their own lives how the Laws of the Universe, forgotten by them, were working.

He was talking about simple things, but filled them with completely different and deep meaning, as if he was opening the veil, where Divine truth was hidden.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

People listened to him, holding their breath, so touching, melodious, pure and sincere was his speech.

The voice of Yeshua mesmerized them. It penetrated inside their souls, entering the hidden corners within.

The most important message that Yeshua wanted to explain to people was that everyone of them is capable of doing miracles, healing themselves and their loved ones; and it depends only on them what kind of life they would have - happy and joyful one or full of grief and suffering.

He wanted to help them to remember that each of them was a part of God and they have mastery over everything.

But for that, they had to go through the rite of Baptism CONSCIOUSLY, which would help them to wash off "the dirt" that adhered to them - such as greed, jealousy, selfishness, lies, hypocrisy, all that was so prevalent in life and what made them and all people around them so unhappy.

The rite of Baptism would help them to return their Divine essence and to fill their lives with Light and Love, Kindness and Compassion, Sincerity and Purity.

62

And then they would become truly happy. They will not live anymore in fear for their future, for their loved ones and for their lives.

They would know that their Souls are Divine and immortal, that our Father and all the Higher Powers are always near us, and they will find in them a support for all their good deeds.

They will gain a self-confidence and become the true creators of their lives.

They would heal themselves and others with Light and Love.

And he himself was an example of that, when he let a part of God inside during the rite of Baptism.

That's how his Service has started, which would continue to the last day of his life on Earth.

We will stop here today.

Winds of Wandering

Thus, let's continue with our story.

After his first successful sermon, Yeshua decided to continue such communications with the people.

But now his preaching had a different foundation, after finding that "key," which he has been seeking for so long.

That knowledge, which he has learned from the Essenes, and later has completed in his communications with the Priests of Agartha, he could now teach to the people together with the Symbol of Faith.

He knew how human beings were designed, that they definitely needed proofs and also certain fetishes, which will help them to stay permanently with the new energies and will help to maintain the level of their changed consciousness, without letting them fall into the lower vibrational energies of the third dimensional world.

And the Baptism was becoming such a fetish as a purification from the the old lower vibrational energies and the Sign of the Cross as a symbol of staying in the energies of Light and Love.

Yeshua explained to the people that the line connecting the third eye and human heart symbolizes unification with the Divine principle and it fills them with the higher-vibrational energies; but the horizontal line - crosses out everything unnecessary and alien to the human beings, which have clung to them during the reincarnations in the three dimensional world.

He taught people about the incarnation, which has been the basis of his Teaching, revealing the meaning of the existence of the soul, whose goal was its spiritual growth.

He explained to people that each new life, filled with Light and Love, brought them closer to God, and opened for the previously unseen opportunities to stay on the subtle plane of the Universe forever, not returning to Earth anymore for the new difficult tests.

He saw that not all the people were capable of accepting new knowledge; that some of them were still at the very beginning of their path.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It seemed they could not tolerate that Light, which surrounded Yeshua. It crushed at the impenetrable wall of their mistrust, anger and aggression.

And because Yeshua remained peaceful, undisturbed and loving, even towards them, caused even greater irritation in these people.

These undeveloped young souls were very hostile towards Yeshua's sermons, calling him sick, crazy, dissident, someone who causes harm to society.

They were writing denunciations against Yeshua, and demanded his exile from the land of Judea.

But much more often during his wanderings, Yeshua was meeting with pure souls, who hungrily absorbed the new knowledge, accepting it with their whole hearts. They sensed its purity and its Divine source.

They felt as if they were expecting this wonderful man, this messiah, who would open their eyes to the world, who would explain why life was treating them often so cruelly, and who would teach them how to live in joy and prosperity.

Thus, it has continued for several years. Yeshua walked around the whole land of Judea preaching his sermons, demonstrating the rites of Baptism, miraculous healings, and gaining more and more disciples and followers.

Mary, his faithful wife, was always with him. She supported him with her love and care, trying to make his personal life easier, regulating the unending stream of people, eager to get a miraculous healing.

Very often, they were joined by the beloved mother of Yeshua, who completely shared their views and their lifestyle, although she sensed with her mother's instinct that some kind of danger was awaiting her son...

We will stop here today.

Pontius Pilate

Let's continue with our story.

Mother Mary's premonition has not deceived her.

Numerous denunciations, written against Yeshua and coming from all the corners of the land of Judea and rumors about his sermons, has finally reached Pontius Pilate, a Roman procurator, who at that time was the main ruler of Judea.

He wanted to look by himself at this strange man, who inspired such controversial rumors. Some people called him God, while the others - a swindler.

But Pontius Pilate became especially interested of the tales of his wonderful healing. For many years, he had suffered from excruciating headaches, which had completely exhausted him; and he secretly hoped that this man will help him to get rid of them.

Pilate ordered to find Yeshua and bring him to his palace.

But what happened next could be called a series of miraculous coincidences.

As soon as Pilate has given orders to find this mysterious wanderer, he himself "knocked at his door."

The guards reported to Pilate that a poorly dressed man called Yeshua wants to see him.

Pilate ordered to bring him immediately.

In several minutes, Yeshua was already standing before this terrifying ruler of Judea, whose very name inspired terror in the hearts of its citizens.

It must be said that Pilate displayed considerable cruelty and was ruling with an iron fist, trying to subdue to the mighty Roman Empire all the tribes living in the land of Judea.

That is why, he has been accustomed that everyone has been terrified of him and did not dare to look at him directly.

But this man not only did not kneel or prostrate himself, but he was standing and looking at him peacefully and kindly, with interest and curiosity.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He was the one who finally broke the silence.

"Greetings, mighty Pilate! You have called me and I have come to you. I'll try to help you and ease your sufferings!"

"But why have you decided that I called you?" answered astonished Pilate.

"I have heard the voice of your exhausted Soul," this strange man answered him.

"And what had my soul tell you?" asked Pilate.

"She said that your cruelty is without limits, but you yourself are suffering from that, because you realize that you are going against God. This unlimited suffering is the real reason for the spasms in your head, which are leading to unbearable and torturous pain," responded Yeshua.

Pilate remained silent for a long time and finally said, "Is my head hurting now?"

"No, because today you have slept well and your Soul is at peace. You have decided to cancel an execution of a man, whose guilt has not been proven. It have calmed your soul and brought you a temporary relieve," responded Yeshua.

66

He looked at Pilate with a gentle, slightly ironic smile. His eyes radiated such kindness, love and compassion that Pilate wanted to cry.

But he could not allow himself such a weakness, and in order to hide his state said briefly,

"Good. Go and come here when my headaches resume."

Yeshua put his hand on his chest, bowed down politely, and left the room.

But we will stop here today.

Confrontation of the Two Worlds

Let's continue with our story.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

As soon as the doors were closed after Yeshua, Pontius Pilate allowed himself to express his feelings.

The tears were freely rolling out of his eyes. It seemed that this mysterious man penetrated the most hidden corners of his soul, and said what he have not had the courage to admit himself.

He understood how right was Yeshua - that this unending inner struggle have exhausted him not only morally but physically.

Pontus Pilate was a faithful soldier, zealously carrying his duty.

And his main responsibility was to subdue people to his will, to make them the obedient slaves of the foreigners, who conquered their land.

He understood how cruel and unfair it has been from the Divine point of view.

All this time, he have had to act against his own consciousness, against the wishes of his Soul, because he was an honorable man, and cruelty did not make him happy.

On the other hand, he loved power and worship of the people. But he understood that this worship has been built on fear and based on flattery and desire to get positions, money and other pleasures of life.

But the people's worship of Yeshua has been completely different, because he was a wonderful man, who considered all the people as equals, who loved them equally, regardless of their position in society, their wealth and power.

He regarded them as Divine creatures and tried to help all of them.

Pilate was told numerous times that Yeshua was able to see through people. He has never refused anyone who needed his help and often even the ones who wished him harm; he has converted them into his faith, so astonishing was his kindness and all-forgiving love.

And Pilate wanted to get to know him better, to solve his mystery, to feel what was the secret of his attraction.

But still he decided to wait until Yeshua himself would come to him - to test if he would know about the onset of the new migraine.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

At this time, Yeshua has settled in Jerusalem where his disciples and followers have created some kind of Christian commune. Very soon, it has become the center of attraction for the people who endeavored to find a different - Divine - meaning of life.

Yeshua and his disciples have been the true life examples of the notion that not everything in this life was measured by wealth, power and material values.

They were teaching that peace and harmony of the soul cannot be bought by any money, and that only Love and respect of oneself and the others could make people truly happy, could help them remember that everyone is a part of God on Earth.

The popularity of this commune started to frighten the authorities, who sensed some danger coming from them. They did not need free and happy people.

The programs of reptiloids have already penetrated into collective consciousness of the people, and its main principle has been to keep people in fear, otherwise it would have been difficult to rule over them.

The period of confrontation between the forces of Goodness and Evil, the Light and Darkness has begun.

But if the main protection of Yeshua has been Love, the Dark forces have had at their disposal all the time proven means - such as lies, bribery, hypocrisy, and treachery.

They would not have aversion for anything in order to keep their power.

But we will stop here today.

Resolution

Thus, the most dramatic episode in Yeshua's life was approaching.

As soon as he had come out of the residence of the Pontius Pilate, Yeshua realized that he would be a person who will sign his death sentence, and then would repent it for the rest of his life.

He "saw" clearly that Pontius Pilate was one of the heroes of that Divine "play," which had been forethought by the Creator, for the awakening of the people and facilitation of their return to the Light.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Yeshua "knew" that this man did not wish his death, but his destiny was irreversible and he was destined to play "the villain," which was the meaning of his mission.

Yeshua felt a sincere compassion towards Pilate and wished to lighten up his burden.

He asked Father to help that the final decision would not be coming from Pilate, so his Soul would not suffer for what he had done, and would find at least some comfort and justification for what was going to happen.

After the visit to Pilate, the events started to develop rapidly. It seemed, the Creator himself decided to make a resolution for everything that had been done by Yeshua for all these years.

By that time, his numerous disciples had spiritually matured and could spread the Teaching by themselves.

The only thing they were lacking was Yeshua's ability to move into the space of higher vibrations, that would allow them to perform miraculous healing.

And he sensed that some of his followers had started to feel jealous towards his abilities.

69

It was especially apparent in the young, handsome, and conceited young man named Judas.

He was a very gifted disciple and had an obvious gift of oratory. He loved an attention of the public, which flattered his vanity and intensified his desire for leadership.

Yeshua saw how much Judah's was suffering that he could not go further and demonstrate miracles like his Teacher.

In the same day when Yeshua had visited Pontius Pilate and realized his role in his own life; he suddenly realized that his disciple Judas was a missing link in the act of that "play," in which he was meant to act.

The Teaching that he was preaching could not pacify the pride and vanity of Judas. Yeshua felt that he wanted to take a place of his Teacher, to become the only undisputed authority for their followers.

And just as it had happened with Pontius Pilate, he foresaw what would happen with Judas.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

But in that case too, he was feeling nothing but compassion for this Soul, who could withstand the test by fame and descended into the lower energies of duality that surrounded him.

He already knew that he won't be able change the course of events. The play, conceived by the Father, was coming to its tragic resolution.

That is why, he decided to gather his favorite disciples - his faithful followers - for the festive supper to prepare them for the future life, where they would have to live and work without him.

He wanted to strengthen their spirits, to fill them with confidence that all the Higher Powers will be with them, and that he himself will always help them everywhere, even if he won't be physically present.

But first, he went to his Mary, to prepare her for the upcoming resolution and to spend with her the last happy days on this beautiful Earth, torn by human passions.

He knew that he had done everything he could do, and now his death could become that Divine "period at the end," which in reality would start the new dispensation for his Teaching, which would continue for centuries...

70

But we will stop here today.

Judas

Thus, we'll continue our story about the last days of Yeshua's life.

They were filled with joy and pain, determination and sadness - those contradictory feelings that are common for a man before taking a decisive step, when he is summing up his entire life on Earth.

Even though, Mary had expected this resolution and prepared herself for all these years, she was overwhelmed with a deep feeling of sadness; it was so difficult to imagine her life without Yeshua, because she was seldom separate from him.

With all her power, she tried to be strong and peaceful, attempting to maintain her usual ironic attitude, but she was not very successful.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The same thing happened with Mother Mary.

Yeshua, as best as he could, tried to calm them and asked to remember that he would always be near them and they would definitely feel that.

The time has come to think not of himself, but about the mission, for which he had come to Earth and which he had to complete.

He was not frightened to part with his life for the sake of his Teaching, which would save numerous people; which would become an island of Light amidst the cruel world of duality; which would be a safe haven for their souls and where they could find peace and harmony, warmed by the Love of the Creator.

Understanding how difficult it would be for Yeshua to look at their suffering, Mother Mary and Mary Magdalene have tried to see in him not a husband and son, but a Divine man, who was immortal and who would help to reach immortality to many thousands of other souls.

It gave them strength to accept with Love that sacrifice, which Yeshua was going to give.

What had happened in the following days was similar to saying good bye to his past life, his disciples, his loved ones.

Yeshua was trying to say to each of them something that he had not said before, to speak heart to heart, to reassure them.

Some of them intuitively felt about the upcoming important events and worried about their Teacher.

And then the day has arrived when Yeshua gathered his favorite disciples for a festive supper.

The supper had become the last one for them. Never again they would gather together.

And what Yeshua said during that evening, was some kind of summing up of what they had done during these years.

He expressed gratitude for their devotion to the cause, blessed them for continuation of their Divine mission, and said farewell.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

And only in the end, he uttered a mysterious phrase, "May happen that which must happen, and may each of my disciples fulfill his mission, regardless of what it may be."

Saying that, he looked at Judas closely. Yeshua's gaze was full of love and compassion.

Judas could not tolerate his gaze and averted his eyes. He understood that Yeshua knew everything about him. He was gripped with such trepidation and sincere remorse that he wanted to die.

But everything has been already done, and he was powerless to change anything.

Several days ago, he had written denunciation against Yeshua where he had accused him of being a charlatan and a fraud.

In his denunciation, he had written that Yeshua, with the help of the Dark forces, had changed the consciousness of the people and as a result they became dangerous for society, because they would not obey any human laws.

Everything in that denunciation has been a lie, from the first to the last word, but Judas, who was possessed by the pride and jealousy for his Teacher, had written it in a confused mental state.

72

It seemed that his Ego had revolted and acted independently, pushing out of his consciousness all his good human qualities...

He was terrified at what he had done, but he could not do anything anymore; because he found out yesterday that his denunciation had gotten into the hands of Pontius Pilate, for whom it has been addressed.

We will stop here today.

The Arrest

Thus, let's continue our story.

Yeshua decided not to wait until he is arrested, but went to Pontius Pilate the next morning.

Besides, he sensed how much Pilate was suffering from headache, which had gripped him after reading denunciation.

The guards immediately brought him to the quarters of Pilate, who was half reclining on the ottoman near the open window. He felt as if his head was exploding. For entire night, he could not close his eyes, because the pain had not stopped for a minute.

Pilate opened his lids with difficulty and looked at Yeshua with pleading expression in his eyes.

Yeshua silently came over and put his hands on Pilate's temples.

What happened next seemed like a miracle to Pilate. He felt like gentle fresh breeze, coming from Yeshua's hands, carried away all his pain.

He was physically feeling as it was flowing into the hands of this wonderful man and disappearing without trace.

His face became pink and his eyes took on a lively expression. Now he looked like a completely different person.

Yeshua took his hands off Pilate's temples and said, "It had happened because you perceived a lie in that denunciation; and, at the same time, you know that you have to go on with that. Again, you are presented with a choice and your soul is suffering."

Completely astonished, Pontius Pilate looked at him silently. He was immeasurably grateful to Yeshua, because he had helped him to get rid of the unbearable suffering; but he realized that his suffering was just beginning, which meant that his headaches would return too.

He felt weak and helpless next to Yeshua, who radiated such Love and spiritual strength that Pilate was completely bewildered, not knowing how to behave with this man.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

But what Yeshua said next, completely confused him.

"Do not think of anything now," said his savior, "You need to rest and save your strength for tomorrow."

"I will give you one advice, which would help you to ease your soul. Let my destiny be decided by the people who would gather at the square."

"If they will desire my death, let it be so, but it would not be your will and your wish. You would sleep peacefully, knowing that you are not guilty of my death."

Pilate had stayed silent for a long time and then said quietly, "I will pray to all the gods that it won't happen."

Then he called the guards and ordered to take Yeshua to prison. He ordered to feed him well and to put him in a separate cell.

The next day, the usual trial was scheduled for the three criminal, who had robbed and killed people, terrifying the residents of Jerusalem and surrounding areas.

But the accusations against Yeshua had not been the lesser crime in the eyes of the local authorities, because he had "robbed" them in a different way, taking many hundreds people out of their power and control, transforming the obedient and subservient citizens into the free and independent people.

At those times, public executions in the main squares of the cities were very common occurrences, and the crowds of people gathered to watch these terrible spectacles.

Quite often, the authorities played in so called democracy, offering the crowds to decide the destiny of the next criminal sentenced to death.

That's what Yeshua had had in mind when he had given Pilate such an unusual advice.

But we will stop here today.

The Night before the Execution

Thus, we approach a culmination of our story about the first coming of Christ.

The next morning, Yeshua had to finish the mission, for which he had come to Earth.

He already knew what would be the choice of the crowd, because Father had shown him his exit from the Earth plane in all details, by moving him into the future.

Together, they had already "rehearsed" the last act of this Divine "play," and now Yeshua would only had to finish playing his part to the end.

He did not have any fear for the upcoming execution, because he had already mastered the skill of coming out of his body; and he knew that when he is crucified, he would only observe himself from the sideways, without feeling pain and suffering.

That's exactly what he wanted to convey to his beloved mother and wife, when he was saying farewell. It has been especially difficult for his mother, who has not been initiated into all the subtleties of what was happening. But he knew that his wife Mary would always be near her as well as his daughter, with whom Mary was planning to reunite in India right after Yeshua's exit.

75

Yeshua had spent his last night on Earth in deep thoughts, not closing his eyes even for a minute.

He was trying to sum up all his life, but the more he thought it over, the more clearly he saw what a huge amount of work was awaiting his followers.

He understood that everything he had done during these years was a drop in the ocean; because the duality had deeply entrenched in the consciousness of the people, and like rust it had corroded their consciousness, not allowing them to break through the common stereotypes of thinking.

His struggle against the reptiloids was not a fight between equals, because they had overtaken all the power and had enslaved people, keeping them in fear.

He already knew what destiny was awaiting those, who had followed his Teaching wholeheartedly, and who had started believing in their own Divinity.

And now, he had to make the last step - to show them the miracle of Resurrection.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

It was exactly what would become the Great Divine Symbol, which would lead millions of people and would help them in the difficult moments, strengthening their spirits, and preventing them from falling into despair in this cruel world of duality.

The dawn was already approaching, when the guard entered the room, saying that Pontius Pilate wants to see him.

Yeshua was led into the quarters of Pontius Pilate. When he first looked at him, he realized that he also had not slept this night, appearing so pale and exhausted.

Pilate asked Yeshua to share his meal with him.

The table laden with food was waiting for them in the garden. Pilate invited Yeshua to sit down.

Pilate himself did not touch the food and continued to look at Yeshua as if trying to resolve his mystery, to understand something which had bothered him.

He wanted to understand why this mysterious man was staying so peaceful and undisturbed, why he looked at Pilate with Love and compassion, despite the fact that he was sending him for execution today.

76

Yeshua too barely touched his food, taking just a couple of fruits.

It has been a strange meal, carried in complete silence.

At last, Pilate said, "I am ready to grant any of your requests, any of your wishes before death."

Yeshua said, "Please, allow Mary Magdalene to leave Judea undisturbed, and make sure that she and my mother would not be persecuted as a result of the accusations against me."

Pilate promised to do that.

Yeshua thanked him, bowed down, and said that he wanted to be alone before the execution.

Pilate looked at him with the long look of farewell and then ordered his guard to take him away.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

Turning at the very threshold, Yeshua said quietly, "Do not feel guilty because of me. Everything had to happen exactly like that. And I am ready for that. Farewell Pontius Pilate, and may the Higher Powers be with you."

We will stop here today.

Judgment of the Crowd

Thus, the day has arrived, which would stay forever in the historic annals of humanity.

Yeshua came out of his physical body, while still being in prison, just as it has been forethought by the Father.

He has been in a a very unusual state of consciousness.

It seemed he looked at himself from the side, unseen by the people, while his twin self acted like nothing happened.

The separation of his human and Divine essence had occurred.

77

One of them stayed in a space of the higher vibrations, where physical pain and sufferings don't exist; while the other one still stayed on Earth, acting according to the laws of three-dimensional world.

Earthy Yeshua was obeying the orders of the guards, who had led him out on the streets and had compelled him to carry on his shoulders a heavy cross, which he had to carry to the place of his execution.

But his unseen twin, who accompanied Yeshua through the narrow streets of Jerusalem, had not felt any pain or suffering or heaviness of the cross; although he had seen the bloody scratches on the back of Yeshua-man.

It was really similar to the theater performance, where only Yeshua was the main actor, acting his role on Earth, and also a spectator, who stayed on a subtle plane.

Yeshua-spectator looked upon everything peacefully, with a complete understanding of the inevitability of what was transpiring. And only when he had seen the teary eyes of his wife-Mary and mother-Mary, he suddenly moved for a moment back into his earthy body and realized how terrible it has been.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He had begged them not to come to the execution, but they could not keep their promise, in their attempts to be as close as possible to him.

With a tremendous effort, Yeshua again had come out of his physical body and tried not to look at his loved ones anymore, so he could honorably finish what has been planned.

As soon as they had reached the square where the execution had to take place, he realized that right there he had to keep a complete peace of mind, banishing all the human emotions and feelings.

And soon, he understood why.

What happened next was akin to the wild orgy, revelry of the dark forces, a state of possession.

Pilate fulfilled exactly what Yeshua had advised him. He allowed the crowd to decide the destinies of the criminals, sentenced to death.

When the sentence for each of them has been read, the crowd went wild and started yelling that Yeshua had to be crucified first.

78

He seemed more odd and strange to them than robbers and killers, and therefore provoked inexplicable fear, which, in its turn, created anger and aggression.

People, who had come to stare at the execution, were the youngest, coarse, and spiritually undeveloped souls. They wanted bread and entertainment at any cost, and especially the bloody spectacles, which were the food for the dark forces, who possessed the consciousness of these people.

They pardoned one of the criminals, who had repented and had promised that from that moment on he would stay on the path of righteousness.

But Yeshua, who had looked on this wild mob quietly and peacefully, provoked in them nothing but irritation and anger. The avalanche of the low energies, coming from the crowd, crushed at the unbreakable wall of Love and Goodness surrounding Yeshua, and reflected back towards these people, inflaming their hatred for this man who seemed strange, and therefore dangerous for them.

When a sentence has been announced, Yeshua saw that Pontius Pilate slowly stood up from his armchair and left the place of the execution.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He has not looked at his wife-Mary and mother-Mary anymore, fearing to repeat his sad experience.

He focused all his attention so he could go through the execution honorably.

We'll stop here today.

Crucifixion

Thus, our narration has reached the moment of Yeshua's execution.

Everything that happened later appeared so inhuman and terrifying that it seemed unreal.

Yeshua fully realized how lowly people had fallen, if torturing other people could give them pleasure; what kinds of demons had taken possession of their consciousness; and how deeply their Divine essence, the main part of being human, has been hidden.

He has not felt any pain when the executioner had nailed him to the cross; he has not heard the screams of the crowd. He has been in a vacuum, separated from this cruel world, but he has still looked and looked at the faces of the people, who surrounded the place of the execution.

It seemed he penetrated into each of their souls. He has seen what a long path was ahead of them; what difficult tests they were destined to go through; how much suffering they will experience before they could learn love and compassion, which means to rise to the realization of themselves as particles of God.

And he asked and asked Father to help these fallen souls to purify themselves from filth; to clear their consciousness; to return them human character; and to set them on the true path.

And then a collapse has happened. It seemed that Yeshua-spectator could not bear this monstrous site anymore and left the Earth plane for a while.

When he had awakened, returning to the "audience," he saw that it has been already an evening and the square has become empty. His favorite disciples, and Judas among them, were taking off the cross his lifeless body.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The face of Judas has been distorted with so much pain and suffering, that Yeshua wanted to take him into his arms and calm down as a small child - such a deep remorse he had sensed in the soul of Judas.

Next to them, he saw teary eyed wife-Mary and Mother Mary.

Yeshua guessed that Pilate had allowed them to take his body off the cross and to carry it away to the safe place, not leaving it to be tortured by the wild beasts.

He observed as they laid him down on a thick coverlet and slowly carried through the narrow streets of Jerusalem, illuminated by the moonlight.

Everything has happened under the dark cover of the night, to avoid people's attention.

He was carried into the cave where the death bed has been prepared with several layers of fir branches, covered with the quilt.

There were jars with pure water for washing his body.

His disciples were standing there while his beloved wife gently and carefully washed his body, from time to time covering with kisses his face and wounded hands.

80

His beloved mother was standing there. She had stopped crying already, but it seemed her face turned into a stone from sadness and suffering.

After finishing purification, Mary Magdalene asked everybody to leave her alone with Yeshua until the morning.

He saw as his mother bundled her in the warm shawl and came out of the cave following his disciples.

Yeshua could not stop admiring his beautiful wife. Her face, illuminated by the flame of the candle, expressed so much gentleness and sadness, love and compassion, that she seemed as an incarnation of femininity on Earth.

Mary looked at him intensely and waited when he would fulfill his promise, given her before they had said farewell - to return to her after death.

And then, Yeshua, gathering together all his subtle bodies from the higher vibrational spaces and concentrating them with the act of will in the powerful energy mass, had filtered them through the unseen membranes that separated him from the third dimension, and entered his lifeless body.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

We'll stop here today.

Resurrection

Thus, we are approaching that part of our narrative, which would reveal the miracle of Resurrection of Yeshua.

After moving into his physical body, Yeshua could revive his material vehicle where his Soul had lived on Earth all these years.

It is impossible to explain from a human point of view. Of course, all the Higher Powers, citizens of Agartha, his Star family, God-Father had helped him.

But still the main role has been played by Yeshua, who, realizing all the tragedy of what was happening on Earth, realizing the depth of the human fall into the lower vibrational energies, which separate humans from their Divine essence, had made his last effort entering into his dead body, fulfilling his mission on Earth to the end.

It seemed, he took upon himself all the pain, fear, and despair, which had pushed people to cruelty; and for which they would pay so dearly, being born again and again on this long-suffering planet.

His beloved beautiful planet, which was caught in the net of the dark forces, who enslaved the consciousness of the people, had become so dear to him that he was ready for anything in order to "shake" and "awaken" these lost souls from a spiritual dream and to help them remember who they were in reality.

What happened next had left such a deep impression on the consciousness of the people, that even the echo of these events lives in their souls to this day.

Mary, who was holding Yeshua's hand, suddenly sensed that it started to get warmer, and then felt some light tremor of his fingers.

She was afraid to move, fearing to drive away the feeling. But soon she understood that it was not her imagination - her beloved husband was really coming back to life.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

The first light of the dawn was already breaking, and she could look at Yeshua carefully.

The most amazing thing was that his wounds have been healed. Only small scars remained in its place and they were not bleeding.

His body slowly became warm. And at last he slowly opened his eyes and smiled at her, "You see, my dear, I'd kept my promise," uttered Yeshua.

Mary fell into his arms and for a long time they stayed embracing each other, until she calmed down completely.

Yeshua told her everything he had felt and seen.

And she thanked Father and all the Higher Powers, who helped Yeshua to avoid physical suffering, although she understood what kind of spiritual suffering he had to go through.

With the first rays of the sun, the disciples came into the cave, his closest favorite disciples. Judas was among them.

82

They came to perform the burial rites at the already prepared plot.

And when they have seen Yeshua, alive and well, in the long white robe, prepared by Mary, they were stunned.

The disciples rushed to him and, at last, realized that their Teacher had Resurrected.

They started to plead with him to appear before the people, so they could witness this Miracle. They understood very well that people would not believe their words.

Yeshua fulfilled their pleas. He understood how important it was that the rumors of his Resurrection would be carried as far as possible, and that as many people as possible would know and remember that nothing is impossible for a man, who lives and breathes with Love; who would pray even at the brink of his death about the lost souls, who had sent him to the execution.

We'll stop here today.

Ascension

So, everybody found Yeshua safe and sound with no signs of tortures on his body.

The news of his Resurrection spread all over Jerusalem.

His disciples were walking along the streets sharing the blessed piece of news inviting people for the homily Yeshua was going to make at a small hill not far from the cave he resurrected in.

Not all the people believed the evangelistic messengers but most of them saw the excited and inspired faces of the men delivering the news and still followed them. And little by little a huge crowd gathered at the bottom of the hill.

Yeshua got up the hill. He looked into the faces of the people surrounding him and recognized many of them as they witnessed his execution.

He was happy with it because he knew it was them who were in need of his words most of all.

His homily after Resurrection differed greatly from the numerous ones he made good work of all through the land of Judea.

It was not long but comprised all the knowledge he had, all the experience he gained including the lamentable death upon the Cross.

When he began to speak silence fell and the people circling him seemed to be holding their breath.

He was speaking in a calm, melodic and confident voice and at the same time it was full of limitless and all-forgiving love, tenderness and kindness to such an extent that many didn't notice they had started crying.

Some of his execution witnesses fell on their knees and begged forgiveness.

Yeshua asked them to rise to their feet and said he had nothing to forgive, that they are Gods just like him but their conscience was dimmed and they didn't know what they did.

He explained to them that their sincere contrition is "the key" to open a different world free of anger, hatred and cruelty, the world ruled by Love, Good and Forgiveness that each human has at the bottom of their heart.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

These wonderful thoughts and emotions were “locked” by the Dark forces, reptiloids, who acquired human appearance, seized power on the planet and enslaved human conscience to set up the programmes generating low frequency energy, for it is the only thing they could feed on.

Yeshua’s words were clear and simple enough to penetrate the people’s souls and the truth of his words was beyond any doubt.

They believed with all their hearts that he is a Heaven envoy arrived on the earth just to deliver the Divine truth to them, help to acquire self-respect, love to oneself, one’s neighbour and every living thing under the sun.

Everyone was perfectly Blessed, the Lord Himself seemed to have come down to the earth and His Love and Light dissolved all the dirt and dark accumulated in the humans’ souls turning them into Angels who would spread the Heaven Divine purity they were lucky to get to know...

When Yeshua felt that the people were blessed and saw their miracle transformation he understood that his mission on Earth was completed, he had done the most of himself and it was high time to go once and for all.

He will help them from the subtle level of Earth where he will be able to see and hear every single soul and support it in despair assisting it in preserving the priceless and immortal Divine particle that each human possesses.

Yeshua gradually dissolved in the air and disappeared with the astonishing crowd watch this...

Here we will stop for today.

Yeshua's Legacy

Let's continue with our story.

Yeshua's disciples proved to be right; the fact that hundreds of people have seen the Resurrection of their Teacher and his subsequent Ascension, and later have heard his wonderful sermon, played a decisive role in the awakening of the people and rebirth of their consciousness.

The news of that Miracle quickly started to spread not only through the land of Judea, but throughout the whole world; because the country was located at the intersection of many ancient roads, leading to Europe, Asia, and Africa.

And as it is common with people, the tales of the miracles created by Yeshua, has been embellished with many "details," giving it even greater weight.

In this way, Yeshua had made the work easier, not only for his disciples, but also for those who carried his Teaching and kept it to our days.

The Priests of Agartha and God-Father have been right, when they said that people needed a Miracle for realization of their Divinity.

That Miracle has been shown by Yeshua, the son of God, who had come to Earth with the greatest mission of awakening humanity from the dream that lasted for centuries.

More than once, Yeshua had appeared before his disciples, his beloved wife and mother, to support them with his advise and Love.

His mother Soul, which had absorbed in itself such a unique experience of being on Earth, started the great Service for people and now from a subtle Earth plane helped each soul who had asked for help, warming them with his love and reviving their Divine consciousness.

And of course, he helped his half - his twin flame - his beloved Mary to finish honorably her own part of Service on earth.

Their son stayed in India, which he had grown to love with all his heart. From his mother's tales, he knew everything about his great father, but preferred to teach people not Christianity, but Buddhism, that had entered his soul from the first years of his life.

The Second Coming of Christ (The beginning)

He has been very successful in his Buddhist studies, spending a lot of time in the Tibetan monasteries, and in his time has been quite a famous person in India.

Mary and her daughter had returned to Italy, Mary's homeland, and later moved to France, where they carried Divine Knowledge to the people till the end of their lives.

Mother Mary has been near them. She had buried her husband a long time ago, and nothing kept her in the country where the sad memories of her son's execution were still fresh.

She had become a true Christian and helped all the needy, not sparing her time and efforts.

The destiny of Judas has been the saddest, because, despite his sincere repentance and forgiveness by his Teacher, he could not bear the remorse of his consciousness and hanged himself in the moment of despair.

Many Yeshua's disciples had paid with their lives for their devotion to The Faith and for their part in spreading the Teaching of Christ, as Yeshua was called after death.

The destiny of the Teaching of Christ was not less sad, because it's essence has been greatly distorted.

86

But we'll talk about it in the next message.

Father-Absolute and Mother of the Universe, who love you without measure, spoke with you